 and sigh'd, and so kiss'd Othello, iii. 3 SIGHING back again, my lord Tempest, i. 2 the lover, sighing like furnace As you Like it, iii. 7 else sighing every minute iii. 2 a plague of sighing and grief! 2 Henry VI, ii. 4 some sighs are not to be admird 3 Henry VI, i. 3 my sighing breast shall be iii. 3 and farewell goes out sighing Troilus & Cress., iii. 3 and sighing, with your arms Julius Caesar, ii. 1 I wound it with sighing, girl Titus Andronicus, iii. 2 and sighing (Kth. singing) and groaning iv. 3 (song) SIGHT thou without breaking? Troilus & Cress., i. 1 SIGHT but mine Tempest, i. 2 at the first sight they have changed eyes i. 2 here's a goodly sight v. 1 return my pains a weeper Titus Andron., i. 3 you may say what sights you see ii. 2 banished from her sight iii. 2 or we'er return again into my sight iv. 4 but niggardly give me sight of her Merry Wives, ii. 2 and their sight was too great iii. 2 the company and sight of men Twelfth Night, i. 2 favour to the youth in your sight only iii. 2 in my sight she uses thee kindly iii. 4 (chall.) out of my sight iv. 1 take it in thy clear sight Meas. for Meas., i. 1 nature never in the sight (of Knt.—sight) i. 4 as bring me to the sight of Isabella i. 5 you shall not be admitted to his sight iv. 3 and God keep you out of my sight Much Ado, ii. 1 the sight whereof, I think iii. 2 we must starve our sight Mid. N.'s Dream, i. 1 to have his sight thither i. 1 come not within his sight ii. 1 take this charm off from her sight iii. 2 so, at his sight away his fellows fly iii. 2 the love-june on some true-love's sight iii. 2 his eyeballs roll with wonted sight iii. 2 true delight in the sight of thy former iii. 2 see at thou this sweet sight? iv. 1 I trust to taste of trust! Thisby's sight v. 1 you shall have a sight of them Love's L. Lost, ii. 1 I wear the favours most in sight v. 2 which you have lost the sight of As you Like it, ii. 2 be pity to see such a sight iii. 4 the sight of lovers feedeth those (rep.) iii. 5 the accustomed sight of death makes iii. 5 none could be so abused in sight as he iii. 5 that loved not the first sight? iii. 5 new to me in my sight iv. 1 come no more in my sight: I had as iv. 1 be out of the sight of Orlando iv. 1 in sight, you are my daughter (rep.) v. 4 if sight and shape be true, why then v. 4 the city, we shall lose the sight All's Well, iii. 5 and at that sight shall sad Taming of Sh. 2 (induc.) bring our lady hither to our sight 2 (induc.) whose sudden sight hath thrall'd i. 1 take this charm off from her sight i. 1 that lacked sight only, naught Winter's Tale, ii. 1 soften at the sight o' the child ii. 2 not winked since I saw these sights ii. 3 here's a sight for thee, look thee iii. 3 new to me in the sight of him iii. 3 will he endure your sight as yet iv. 3 purchase the sight again of dear iv. 3 for whose sight I have a woman's longing iv. 3 and show our true image, get v. 3 then have you lost a sight, which v. 3 the sight of my poor image would v. 3 and in our sight, they three were Comedy of Err., i. 1 and that will clear your sight ii. 2 to herald thee into his sight Macbeth, iii. 3 sensible to feeling, as to sight? ii. 1

SIGHT. A foolish thought (rep.) Macbeth ii. 2 and destroy your sight with a new ii. 2 sweep him from my sight ii. 3 avaunt! and quit my sight! iii. 4 you can behold such sights, and keep iii. 4 what sights, my lord iii. 4 horrible sight! ay, now, I see iii. 4 but no more sights! where are iv. 1 and amazed my sight; I think v. 1 but in the sight of us, your lawful King John, ii. 1 I cannot break thy sight iii. 2 how oft the sight of means to do iii. 2 out of my sight, and never see iv. 2 crest-fallen in my father's sight Richard II, i. 1 anointed in his sport, hath shed i. 2 hath done by sight of what I have i. 2 to endure the sight of day iii. 2 you will, so I were from your sights iv. 1 never more come in my sight v. 2 but is awary of thy common sight! 1 Henry IV, iii. 2 durst not come near your sight v. 2 to fly out of your sight, and raise v. 1 his dimensions to any thick sight 2 Henry IV, iii. 2 sparkling through your sight of steel iii. 2 in sight of both our armies iii. 2 and now my sight fails, and my brain iv. 4 upon thy sight, my worldly iv. 4 they do offend our sight Henry V, i. 7 my sight will not see thy sight! Henry V, i. 1 the sight will much delight thee i. 1 daunted at a woman's sight? v. 3 by sight of these our baleful v. 4 in sight of England and her lordly 2 Henry VI, i. 1 which he did rave, but i. 1 that which seems to dim thy sight? i. 1 abase our sight so low, as to i. 2 hath received his sight; a man ii. 1 although by his sight his sin be ii. 1 in sight of God, and us, your guilt is ii. 3 take hence that traitor from our sight ii. 3 baleful messenger, out of my sight! ii. 2 to see in innocency thy sight ii. 2 my earnest-gaping sight of thy land's ii. 2 and in thy sight to die, what were ii. 2 where, from thy sight, I should be iv. 2 even in their wives and children's sight iv. 2 the sight of me is odious in their sight iv. 4 shall I endure the sight of Somerset? v. 2 even at this sight, my heart v. 2 the sight of any of the house of York 3 Henry VI, i. 3 to see this sight, it irks my very soul ii. 2 mine own land with my wishful sight iii. 1 I here protest, in sight of heaven iii. 3 out of my sight! thou dost infect Richard III, i. 2 what maketh thou in my sight? i. 3 out of my sight, shut up an i. 4 what sights of ugly death i. 4 and the beared sights are spectacled Coriolanus, ii. 1 down stretch below the beam of sight ii. 2 take up the glasses of my sight ii. 2 thy sight, which should make eyes iii. 3 you know him well by sight Julius Caesar, i. 3 three of us have seen strange sights i. 3 most horrid sights seen by the watch ii. 2 O most bloody sight! we will be iii. 2 my sight was ever thick v. 3 as tidings of this sight v. 3 mine eyes did sicken at the sight Antony & Cleo., iii. 1 a heavy sight! I am dying, Egypt iv. 13 hence, from my sight! if, after Cymbeline, i. 2 was as a scorpion to her sight v. 5 O, get thee from my sight v. 5 and here, in sight of Rome (rep.) Titus Andron., i. 2 my sight is very dull, what'er ii. 4 ever eye, with sight, made heart lament ii. 4 and see a fearful sight of blood and death ii. 5 for such a sight will blind ii. 5 made thee harmless in thy father's sight? iii. 1 ah, that this sight should me so deep iii. 1 with this sight struck pale iii. 1 and be this dismal sight the closing iii. 1 go, get thee from my sight iii. 2 thy sight is young, and thou shalt read iii. 2 low desirous of our sight they are iii. 2 a sight to vex the father's soul v. 1 cloud they not their sights perpetually Pericles, i. 4 to glad the sight, and not so much i. 4 supposing once more put thy sight v. (Gower) but needless is your sight i. 4 hence, and avoid my sight Lear, i. 1 out of my sight! see better, Lear i. 1 out, varlet, from my sight! ii. 4 a busy almost too and for sight ii. 4 and the deficient sight topple down iv. 6 and, in your sights, shake patiently iv. 6 O thou side-piercing sight! iv. 6 fly does lecher in my sight iv. 6 a very moist sight in the night iv. 6 the sight of the death-practised dnke iv. 6 this is a dull sight: are you not Kent? v. 3 no such sight to be shown Romeo & Juliet, i. 2 foreward I sight I see i. 2 to herald thee from their sight (Knt.—eyes) ii. 2 O one short minute gives me in her sight ii. 6

SIGHT (Col. Knt.—O prince) Romeo & Juliet, iii. 1
 I swooned at the sight iii. 2 give me such a sight as this? iv. 5 hath catch'd a sight as this? iv. 5 pitiful sight! here lies the countryman iv. 5 O me! this sight of death is as a bell v. 3 touching this dreaded sight, twice seen Hamlet, i. 1 and vanished from my sight i. 2 I have hitherto concealed this i. 2 or looked upon this love with idle sight ii. 4 feeling without sight, ears without hands iii. 2 I would be a sight indeed, if I could iv. 7 where is the sight indeed, if our could v. 2 the sight is dismal, and our affairs v. 2 such a sight as this becomes the v. 2 out of my sight! I will not stay to Othello, iv. 1 this sight would make him do a desperate v. 2 the possession of this heavenly sight v. 2 the object poisons sight; let it be hid v. 2 SIGHTLESS like the basilisk Winter's Tale, i. 1 SIGHT-HOLE—stop all sight-holes! Henry IV, iv. 1 SIGHTLESS—your sightless substances, Macbeth, i. 5 horsed upon the sightless couriers of the i. 7 unpleasing blots, and sightless stains King John, iii. 1 SIGHTLY—it lies as sightly on the back ii. 1
SIGHT-OUTRUN—I give you Tempest, i. 2
SIGN—some sign of good desert Meas. for Meas., i. 2 sign me a present pardon for Meas. for Meas., i. 2 for the sign of blind Cupid Much Ado, i. 1 then he signify under my sign i. 3 rather die than give any sign ii. 1 there is no believing odd signs ii. 2 she's but the sign and semblance of her iv. 1 boy, what sign is it, when a man Love's L. Lost, i. 1 great sign, sir, that he will i. 2 following the signs, wood but the sign v. 2 until the twelve celestial signs have v. 2 deed after me, and I will sign it Mer. of Venice, iv. 1 in this deed, and let him sign it iv. 2 in sign whereof, please you Taming of Shrew, i. 4 or moral of his signs and tokens i. 2 and show more sign of her obedience v. 2 though he does bear some signs Winter's Tale, ii. 1 ill, from one sign of love to another v. 2 but signs of nobleness, like stars Macbeth, i. 4 it were a good sign that I should ii. 2 be these sad signs confirmers of King John, iii. 1 prodigies, and signs, abortives iii. 4 and my signs, and abortives again iv. 2 with signs of war about his aged Richard II, i. 1 these signs foretell the death ii. 4 leaving me no sign, save men's iii. 1 I'll give a sign of love, and love to you v. 5 and diall the signs of leaping-holes! Henry IV, i. 1 these signs have marked me iii. 1 smooth, like unto the sign of the leg! 2 Henry VI, ii. 4 the signs of war advance Henry V, ii. 2 in sign whereof Henry V, ii. 1 in sign whereof (rep.) Henry V, ii. 1 I'll by a sign give notice iii. 2 give me signs of future accidents! v. 3 for sign of plighted faith v. 3 these are no general signs Titus Andronicus, iii. 3 no kinder sign of love, than 2 Henry VI, i. 1 make my image but an alehouse sign iii. 2 the least of all these signs were iii. 2 full, full as many signs of deadly iii. 2 ah, what a sign it is! iii. 2 he dies, and makes no sign iii. 3 no better sign of a brave mind iv. 2 underneath an alehouse's paltry sign v. 3 in my hand in sign whereof 3 Henry VI, iv. 1 in sign of truth, I kiss your iv. 1 shrieked at thy birth, an evil sign v. 6 in sign of league and amity with Richard III, iii. 3 by the sign thereof, was termed so iii. 5 a sign of dignity, and of iii. 5 you sign your place and calling Henry VIII, ii. 4 in a sign of peace, his service and his iii. 1 in sign of w hat you are, not to Coriolanus, i. 9 go home, and show no sign of fear iv. 6 without the sign of your profession! Julius Caesar, i. 1 gave sign for me to leave you ii. 1 bloody sign of battle (rep.) v. 1 it signs well, does it not? Antony & Cleopatra, iv. 3 thou hast seen these signs iv. 2 scutechons, and your signs of conquest v. 2 she's a good sign, but I have seen Cymbeline, i. 3 some corporal sign about her ii. 4 and send him some bloody sign of it iii. 4
 these are no general signs Titus Andronicus, iii. 3 see, how with signs and tokens ii. 5 or make some sign how I may do iii. 1 I understand her signs iii. 1 that thou dost talk me in my rage King John, ii. 2 I can interpret all her merry iii. 1 nor kneel, nor make a sign iii. 2 my niece Lavinia by these signs? iv. 1 give signs, sweet girl, for here are none iv. 1 in alehouse's paltry sign iv. 1 but if my frosts signs and chaps of age v. 3 we should lodge them with this sign Pericles, iv. 3 a flag and sign of love, which is (rep.) Othello, i. 1 QUENED, and signed, like a deer King John, ii. 1 attending but the signal to begin Richard II, iii. 6 full trophy, signal, and ostent Henry V, v. (chorus) in signal of my love to thee Henry V, i. 4 thy hand, make signal of thy hope! 2 Henry VI, ii. 3 give signal to the signal 3 Henry VI, ii. 2 stir not until the signal Julius Caesar, v. 1 as signal that thou hear'st Romeo & Juliet, v. 3 SIGNED—until confirmed, signed, Mer. of Venice, iii. 2
 QUENED, and signed, like a deer King John, ii. 1
 signed in thy spoil, and crimsoned Julius Caesar, ii. 1 into his study of imagination 3

 I am slow of study N. D. Dream 3 study here three years (rep. i. 2) Love's L. Lost, i. 1
 I not to see ladies, study, fast (rep. iv. 3) 3
 I only swore to study with your grace 3 what is the end of study? 3 is study a good study 3 to study where I will may dine (rep.) 3 if study's gain be thus (rep.) 3 the stops that hinder study quite (rep.) 3 study is like the heaven's glorious sun 3 to study now is to study 3 so study evermore is overshoot (rep.) 3 so to study, three years is short 3 why, sir, is this such a piece of study? 3 till painful study will outlearn three 3 study his bias, as a man's 3 you have vowed to study, lords (rep.) 3 found the ground of study's excellence 3 and study too, the cause of your 3 because he cannot study As You Like It, iv. 3 then I'll study how to die 3 it is my study to seem despiseful 3 for the time I study, virtue Taming of Shrew, i. 1 in brief, sir, study what you most 3 where did you study all this goodly 3 to thee, shall be my study Winter's Tale, iv. 1 from study, and perturbation of Henry IV. i. 2 it hath been all in all his study Henry IV. i. 1 never noted in him any study 3 unless my study and my books Henry IV. i. 4 or who should study to prefer a peace 3 after is my study and my books 3 his study, is his tilt-yard Henry IV. i. 3 nor how to study for the people's Henry IV. iv. 3 to study fashioning the world 3 and with no little study, that my Henry IV. v. 2 all my study 3

 sir, I shall study deserv'g Lea, i. 1 let your study be, to content your lord 3 learned Theban: what is your study? 3 learn to study: by and by Honour for Meas. iii. 3 you could, for study, a speech of 3 STUDYING at Rheims Taming of Shrew, ii. 1 been studying how I may compare Richard II. v. 5 in studying good for England? Henry IV. iii. 1 STUFF—linens, stuffs, and necessaries Tempest, i. 2 what stuff is this—how say you? 3 we are such stuff as dreams are 3
 I make us strange stuff 3 a stuff will not endure Troilus & Cressida, i. 3 (song) heavenly: what stuff is this? Meas. for Meas. iii. 2 prouder stuff than that of Beatrice Much Ado, iii. 1 this is the silliest stuff that ever Mid. N. Dr. v. 1 man hold vive stuff so dear Love's L. Lost, iv. 3 what stuff 'tis made of Merchant of Venice, i. 1
 I pleasing stuff (rep.) Taming of Shrew, 2 (Induc.)

STUFF—my household stuff Taming of Shrew, ii. 1 what masking stuff is here? 3 no order, I gave him the stuff 3 for parody to stuff a rabbit 3 what order our stuff from Venice King of Errors, iv. 4 away, to get our stuff aboard 3 your stuff from shipboard? (rep.) 3 O proper stuff! this is the very Macbeth, iii. 4 person of that perlorious stuff 3 stuffs out his vacant garments King John, iii. 1 do not seek to stuff my head with 3 traitor's name stuff I thy throat Richard II. i. 2 will stuff your purses full of crowns Henry IV. i. 2 such a deal of skimbable stuff 3 venture of Bourdeaux stuff in him Henry IV. i. 2 here's goodly stuff toward! 3 what stuff will have a kirtle of? 3 doubling, and stuff me out with straw 3 there's in him stuff that puts Henry VIII. i. 1 rich stuffs, and ornaments of household 3 you are full of heavenly stuff 3 at this fusty stuff, the large Troilus & Cressida, i. 3 serves as stuff for these 3 put stuff to some she beggar Timon of Athens, iv. 3 swells with stuff so fine and smooth 3 as to stuff a butcher's cushion Coriolanus, iii. 2 should be made of sterner stuff Julius Cæsar, iii. 1 making of stuff Antony & Cleopatra, v. 2 and such stuff within, endows Cymbeline 3 such hollid stuff, as well might 3 moulded the stuff so fair 3 or else such stuff as madmen tongue 3 in the ears of men 3
 the stuff we have, a strong wind Pericles, iv. 3 it will stuff his suspicion more fully Lea, iii. 1 was no such stuff in my thoughts Hamlet, ii. 2 that we be made of penetrable stuff 3 if we be made of such stuff 3
 I do hold it very stuff of the conscience Othello, i. 2 STUFFED with protestations Tro Gen. of Verona, iv. 4 stuffed with all honourable virtues Much Ado, i. 1 is no less than a stuffed man 3 hath already stuffed his stomach 3
 I am stuffed, cousin, I cannot (rep.) 3 in ivory coffers I have stuffed my Taming of Sh. III. i. 1 you know of stuffed sufficiency Winter's Tale, ii. 1 have the stuff of home Macbeth, v. 3 my arms such cockins stuffed King John, iv. 2 that stuffed cloak-bag of guts Henry IV. ii. 4 not seen a hulk better stuffed Henry IV. ii. 4 when we have stuffed these pipes Coriolanus, v. 1 have stuffed these 3
 stuffed (as they say) with Romeo & Juliet, iii. 1 an alligator stuffed, and other skins 3 horribly stuffed with epithets of war Othello, i. 1

 STURDY—where the sturdy rebel sits Henry IV. i. 1
 STY—and here you sty me in Tempest, i. 2
 In the sty of this most bloody Richard III. iv. 5 whether the sty be here 3 here within this loathsome sty Pericles, iv. 6 making love over the nasty sty Hamlet, iii. 4 STYGA—per Styga, per manes vehor Titus Andronicus, ii. 2 STYGLAN banks staying Troilus & Cressida, iii. 2 the action of her fate Merry Wives, 3 and I will aggravate his style 3 over the style, this way 3 they have writ the style of gods Much Ado, i. 1 in so high a style, Margaret 3 as the style she gives is styled Love's L. Lost, i. 1 but I remember the style 3 into so quiet and so sweet a style As You Like It, ii. 1 a cruel style, a style for challengers 3 count's master is another style All's Well, 3 merly bent the styles Winter's Tale, iv. 2 (song) that he hath changed his style? Henry IV. i. 1 here is a silly stately style indeed 3 not so tedious a style as this 3 whose large style agrees with Henry IV. i. 1 a queen in title and in style 3 not honest, is too harsh a style Richard III. iv. 4 both style and gate, horseway Lea, iv. 1 proud majesty, a subject 3 but subjects; being now a subject 3 to Bolingbroke are we sworn subjects 3 drive all thy subjects abroad thee Henry IV. iv. 4 doth not the king lack subjects? Henry IV. i. 2 a naked subject to the weeping clouds 3 we are time's subjects, and time bids 3 very hardly, upon such a subject 3 careful friend, and a true subject 3 scorned subject of mine 3 lord, how subject we old men are 3 the subjects of his substitute 3 and a famous true subject took him 3 most subject to the fattest sun to 3 richer, and more loyal subjects Henry IV. i. 4 our passion is as subject 3 there's not, I think, a subject, that sits 3 never did faithful subject more 3 his subjects to oppression and contempt 3 his subjects, have in wonder found 3 the subjects we have lost 3 a subject for a sovereign to reason on 3 if we know we are the king's subjects 3

 every subject of mine 3 desired in the hearts of his subjects 3 his subjects, and his loyal friends Henry IV. iii. 1 I like true subjects 3 is my king, Warwick his subject v. 1 his subjects slain Henry V. v. 2 for stirring up my subjects v. 5 speak like a subject v. 5 you how like subjects Richard III. 3 your queen, and you my subjects ii. 3 live each of you the subjects to his hate or, like obedient subjects, follow ii. 2 the subject traitor for this day had plighted and proved the subject of mine own Tyrrel, and your most obedient subject am her subject. But she, your subject ii. 4 the subject will deserve it Henry VIII. (prol.) that your subjects are in great grievance the subject's grievances through ii. 2 most like a careful subject ii. 2 would be served before a subject ii. 2 (letter) ye, subject to your countenance ii. 4 to be honest, subject to do ii. 7 outspoke possession of a subject ii. 2 a loyal and obedient subject ii. 2 if a prince may be beholden to a subject a poor and humble subject to you? ii. 2

 It is too starry a subject for me Troilus & Cress. i. 1 commands as subject all the vale ii. 2 where Helen is the subject ii. 2 that he shall take the odds of this iv. 3 will they take the offer of our grace we offer fair, take it advisedly v. 1 or take away the grief of a world? .. v. 1 but take my pistol, if thou wilt v. 3 that takes survey of all the world? .. v. 4 adieu, and take thy praise with thee I'll take it upon my death v. 4

 I will take it as a sweet disgrace 2 Henry VI. i. 1 men of all sorts give a price i. 2 he would not take his bond and yours this apoplexy is, as I take it i. 2 will take me without weighing i. 2 I take but two shirts out with i. 3 a third must I take i. 3 that king again, and take thou this to take soldiers up in counties ii. 1 or to take not how many pair ii. 2 that takes upon him not to conceive merriment, if you take not the heat who take the ruffian billows by iii. 1 I will take your counsel iii. 1 and I will take such order, that thy I take not on thee as a physician you overween, to take it so iv. 1 then take my lord of Westmoreland
 I take your princely word for iv. 2 they take their courses east iv. 2 or else a feat, and take away iv. 2 I pray you, take me up, and bear me but wherefore did he take away iv. 4 put it in thy mind, to take it hence iv. 4 as men take diseases, one of another
 I take it there that he takes away v. 1
 I would not take a knighthood for v. 3 let us take any man's horses v. 3 to the Fleet; take all his company v. 5 hear you men; take them away v. 5 whereof take you one quarter Henry VI. ii. (chorus) ere he take ship for France ii. (chorus) for I can take, and Pistol's cock is ii. 1 take up the English short ii. 2 and to take mercy on the poor souls ii. 4
 If I should take from another's pocket eyes of mine take themselves to slumber iii. 2 look you, if you take the matter iii. 2 men of Harfleur, take pity of your town iii. 3 and I will take up the matter iv. 7 will take the pains but to examine iv. 7
 I will take thee a box on the ear iv. 1
 I take thee in the king's company iv. 1 take them from now the sense iv. 3 the banner from the trumpet iv. 3 take it, brave York, now, soldiers iv. 4 and I the crown will take iv. 5 the devil take order now! iv. 5 and takes him by the beard iv. 6 Philip of Macedon, as take iv. 7 to take the tales out of my mouth iv. 7 take a trumpet, herald; ride thou iv. 7 not a man of them, that we shall take iv. 7 your majesty takes no scorn to iv. 7 have sworn to take him a box on the iv. 7 which your majesty is take out of iv. 7 I beseech you, take it for your own fault iv. 8 take it God, for it is only thine! iv. 8 or take that praise from God iv. 8 when you take occasion to see looks v. 1 in truth, you shall take it v. 1 I take thy groat, in earnest of v. 2 and take with you free power v. 2 canst love me for this, take me (rep.) v. 2 dear Kate, take a fellow of plain v. 2 take a soldier; take a soldier, take v. 2 and take the Turk by the beard? v. 2 money, take the word of a king and v. 2 take her, fair son; and from v. 2 we'll take you, and take the peers' v. 2 let this acceptance take v. 2 (chorus) of Anjou, doth take his part 1 Henry VI. i. 1 soldiers with me I will take i. 1 she takes upon her bravely i. 2 take you no care, I'll never i. 2 sirs, take your places, and be vigilant laid'st a trap to take my life ii. 1 churchmen take delight in broils? ii. 1 your lordship take the boys for fools and dare not take up arms like ii. 2 now will we take some order ii. 2 and take away his train, if Dauphin the rest, will take thee in their arms ii. 3 and in our coronation take you place in witness, take ye that ii. 4 governor of Paris, take your oath iv. 1 much less to take occasion from iv. 1 persuade you take a better course iv. 1 then, God take mercy on brave iv. 1 and take foul scorn, to fawn iv. 4 pause, and take thy breath iv. 6 go, take their bodies hence iv. 7 then take my word, my boys, v. 3 kneel down and take my blessing v. 3 take her away; for she hath lived v. 4

TAK—therefore take this compact 1 Henry VI. v. 1 take, therefore, shipping; post v. 5 therefore I will take the Nevils' parts 2 Henry VI. i. 1 here, Hume, take this ransom i. 3 take this fellow in, and send for i. 3 in court do take her for the queen i. 3 shall he die, and take his end (rep.) i. 4 Stuffed, take her to thee; we'll see i. 4 and take this drab away ii. 3 and here, Tom, take all the money ii. 3 will take my death, I never meant ii. 3 take away his weapon ii. 3 go, take hence that traitor ii. 3 we'll take her from the sheriff ii. 3 to take her with him to the isle ii. 4 I pry thee go, and take me hence ii. 4 sirs, take away the duke, and guard iii. 1 and as the butcher takes away iii. 1 ere you can take one orders iii. 1 nay, then a shame take all iii. 1 noble York, take thou this task iii. 1 whiles I take order for yet iii. 1
 I take it kindly; yet, be well iii. 1 lords, take your places; and, I pray iii. 2 let thy Suffolk take his heavy iii. 2 and take my heart with thee iii. 2 he no more take the prison iv. 2 dare not), take our parts iv. 2 away, take horse. Come, Margaret iv. 4 take him away, and behind him (rep.) iv. 7 and take up commodities upon our bills iv. 7 men to take possession of 3 Henry VI. i. 1 that here thou take an oath i. 1 this oath I willingly take, and will i. 1 pray before I take my death i. 3 prize to take all advantages i. 4 take care to let him see i. 4 there, take the crown i. 4 Clifford, take me from the world i. 4 and takes her farewell of the glorious ii. 1 my hours may not take my rest ii. 5 that haply take them from him now ii. 5 death, take on with me, and ne'er ii. 5 nay, soul me with thee, good ii. 5 whose tale is that which takes her heavy ii. 6 for I will take no stage ii. 6 but you will take exception ii. 6 that king Edward take thee ii. 6 to take their rooms, ere I ii. 6 like a Sinon, take another Troy ii. 6 while I must take the life ii. 6 that they'll take no offence (rep.) iv. 1 surprise and take him at our pleasure iv. 2 each man take his stand iv. 3 never to lie, and take his natural rest iv. 3 if I can take up the iv. 4 and take the great-grown traitor iv. 8 Warwick takes his gift again v. 1 come, Warwick, take the time v. 1 and take his thanks, that yet v. 1 take away this captive soldier v. 5 take that, the likeness of this (rep.) v. 5 if heaven will take the Richard III. i. 1 God take king Edward i. 1 take up the matter again, or take up me i. 2 to take is not to give i. 2 take up the corpse, sirs i. 2 to take her in her heart's extremest i. 2 and take deep traitors for thy denrest i. 3 furies take him to you toment i. 3 take the devil in thy mind i. 4 take him over the costard i. 4 take not the quarrel from his i. 4 take that, and that; if all this i. 4 take me from the sea, and call him i. 4 to take our brother Clarence i. 1 I fear thy justice will take hold ii. 1 that you take with unthankfulness ii. 2 if presently you will take horse ii. 2 I presume he'll take it ii. 5 to take some privy order to draw ii. 5 still answer nay, and take it ii. 7 this virtuous prince take on himself ii. 7 to take on you the charge and singly ii. 7 take to your royal self this proffer ii. 7 beseech you, take it not amiss ii. 7 and take thy office from thee iv. 1 take all the swift advantage iv. 1 I will take order for her keeping iv. 2 therefore, take with thee my most heavy iv. 4 if I did take the kingdom iv. 4 there, take thou that, till thou iv. 4 some one take order, Buckingham iv. 4 for me both give and take iv. 4 troubled thoughts, to take a new v. 3 take up the rays of the beneficent Henry VIII. i. 1 the state takes notice of the private i. 1 and take it from a heart that i. 1 his follow (which, as I take it, is a kind i. 2 arise, and take place by us i. 2 repeat your will, and take it i. 2 we should take root here where we sit i. 2 why, we take from every tree i. 2 one should take it, that never saw i. 3 there, I take it, they may i. 3 I'll take the charge of this; his grace i. 4 and pray them take their pleasures i. 4 find out, and he will take it i. 4 to take you out and not to take you i. 4 I can't take peace with the ii. 1 to take your good grace from me? ii. 4 take thy lute, wench, my soul ii. 1 your griefs, and take my counsel ii. 2 for it did take place, I do ii. 2 take notice, lords, he has a loyal ii. 2 a way, if I take right, in spite ii. 2 now, who'll take it? The king ii. 2 there takes an inventory of all ii. 2 you come to take your stand here ii. 2
 I take it, she that carries up iv. 1

TAK—you take good comfort Henry VIII. iv. 2 take't of me, till Cranmer, Cromwell v. 1 you must take your patience to you v. 1 you take a precipice for no leap v. 2
 I take it, by all means, for a youth v. 2
 I take my cause out of the gripes v. 2 take him, and use him well, he's worthy v. 2 do you take the court for Paris-garden? v. 3 with his kisses take my business v. 3 some come to take their ease (epil.) and she takes upon her to say Troilus & Cress. i. 2 take't of who will, as they i. 2 goddess, he should take his choice i. 2 take but degrees of swayer i. 3 he bade me take a trumpet i. 3 for whosoever you take him to be, he ii. 1 I take to-day a wife, and my election ii. 2 if ye take not that little little ii. 3 take the instant way ii. 3 that takes me for the general? ii. 3 a bigbear take him! ii. 2 the devil take Antenor! ii. 2 delites,—take thee from me ii. 4 I'll take that winter from your ii. 5 both take and give ii. 5 the kiss you take is better than ii. 5 seen in pause, and take thy breath ii. 5 take and take and take, and prosperous ii. 2 if he can take her cliff ii. 2 and sighs, and takes my glove ii. 2 he, that takes that, must take my heart ii. 2 know you take it, take it ii. 2 a burning devil take them ii. 2 to take that curse by your consent ii. 3 shouldst thou take the river Styx ii. 4 my servant, take thou Troilus' horse ii. 5 the devil take thee, coward ii. 5 I'll take good breath; rest, sword ii. 9 take it for thy labour Timon of Athens. i. 1 my lord, you take us even at the best i. 2 you may take my word, my lord i. 2 take it, and you shall see i. 2 I go, sir; take the bonds along ii. 1 takes no account how things go ii. 2 no counsel, take no warning by my iii. 1 must I take the life iii. 1 takes virtuous copies to be wicked iii. 3 take down th' interest into their iii. 4 for, take it on my soul, my lord iii. 4 we cannot take this for an answer iii. 4 fear me, take me, and my iii. 5 takes his valour prisoner iii. 5 take my deers to his, and join iii. 5 soft, take thy physic first iii. 6 take thou that, with, multiplying iv. 1 to take his fortune by the iv. 1 let each take some; nay, put iv. 2 I'll take the gold thou givest me iv. 3 take the bridge quite away iv. 3 take up the cause, and my shield iv. 3 mend my company; take away thyself iv. 3 here, take; the gods out of my misery iv. 3 wish I, you take much pains to mend v. 1 you'll take it ill. Most thankfully v. 1 take the cause, and my shield ii. 2 take our goodly aged men v. 2 let him take't at worst v. 2 let him take his haste v. 3 the character I'll take with wax v. 4 take you the measure v. 5 it is not square, to take, on those v. 5 whose course will on the way it takes. Coriolanus. i. 1 take these rats thither, to gnaw i. 1 to take in many towns i. 2 take your own station i. 4 I'll take him for a Volscian i. 4 take convenient numbers to make i. 5 take your choice of those that i. 6 my heart consent to take a bribe i. 9 take 'tis my gift ii. 1 if you take it as a pleasure to you ii. 1 take my cap, Jupiter, and I thank thee ii. 1 take to you, as your predecessors have ii. 2 will from them take their liberties ii. 3 take the one by t'other ii. 1 no; take more; what may be sworn by ii. 1 that would take from you all your ii. 1 I could myself take up a brace iii. 1 than to take in a town with ii. 2 schoolboys' tears take up the glasses ii. 3 do not take his rougher accents ii. 3 you take it off again? ii. 3 contrived to take from Rome ii. 3 take good Count Caius ii. 3 take my prayers with you ii. 2 to take all power from the people ii. 3 you take my part from you, sir ii. 3 to take the one the other ii. 4 take up some other station ii. 5 take our friendly senators by ii. 5 take the one half of my commission ii. 5 but I take him to be the greater ii. 5 no takes it for sovereignty of ii. 7 for I loved thee, take it along ii. 7 his own impatience takes from Aufidius v. 5 take him up; help three o'the v. 5 good Cinna, take this paper. Julius Caesar. i. 3 take thought, and take your i. 3
 I go to take my stand, to see him iv. 4 Antony, here take you Caesar's body ii. 1 how the people take the cruel issue ii. 1 he would not take the crown ii. 2 traitors' house take up the boys ii. 2 take thou what course thou wilt ii. 2 then take we down his load ii. 1 be'st a Roman, take it forth ii. 3 and we must take the current when ii. 4 I'll take it for my good, and good by ii. 4 our everlasting farewell take v. 1 and did take it from him v. 3

TAK'D—did I take thee prisoner Julius Cæsar, v. 3 here, take thou the hills, and when take this garment, that I would not shall ever take alive the noble Brutus Octavius, then take him to follow thee take in that kingdom Antony & Cleopatra, i. 1 to take the wife of a man i. 2
 I should take you for a lecher i. 3
 I take no pleasure in aught i. 5
 I learn, you take things ill i. 2 take Antony Octavia to his wife i. 2 take no offence, that I would not take your time Thou canst not how you take the offers i. 6 a man prepared to take this offer i. 6 no, Antony, take the lot i. 6 here they might take two thieves i. 6 I shall take it, sir; we have used i. 6 they take the flow o' the Nile by i. 7 who seeks, and will not take when i. 7 you take from me a great part i. 2 thou must not take my father's i. 3 take from his heart, take from his the Ionian sea, and take in Thyne? laden with gold; take that (rep.) i. 3 take the hint which my despair i. 10 friend, or take life from thee i. 10 take hence this Jack (rep.) i. 11 take to a fellow that will take rewards I'll strike; and cry, take all i. 11 now the wick that burns i. 2 to take me in; too dolorous i. 2 snatch 'em up, as we take hares i. 2 which, as I take 't, we shall i. 10 let him take thee, and hoist thee i. 10 must bring me up for swelling death take me up; I have led you off i. 12 good sirs, take heart i. 13 and make death proud to take us i. 13 if thou please to take me to three v. 1 that take a que'st in their death I'll take her to my guard v. 2 take to you no hard thoughts v. 2 take thou no care, it shall be heeded and take the last army of v. 2 may, I will take thee too v. 2 take up her bed; and bear her women the king, he takes the babe Cymbeline, i. 1 take it, heart; but keep it till i. 2 takes his part; and in an hour ended; take your own way i. 6 but take it for thy labour i. 6 take it; it is an earnest i. 6 who shall take notice of thee i. 6 which, if he take a quietus i. 6 and takes it thankfully i. 7 which takes prisoner the wild motion take my power i' the court for yours to take them in protection? i. 7 must take me up for swelling death cannot take two from twenty i. 1 take not away the taper i. 2 he cannot choose but take this service here, take this too; it is a bush that take you hence; I'll be gone there, take thy life; and all the fiends which then they had to take from us as would take in some virtue i. 1 take me in his dominion i. 2 take notice, take notice in marriage i. 2 they take for natural father i. 3 may take off some extremity i. 4 thine own hands take away her life i. 4 teat it, and he that takes the man can take no greater wound i. 4 madam, we must take a short farewell if savage, take, or lend; hol i. 2 single hand he'd take us in i. 2 spare to take the mountain pine by the top doth take the mountain pine will take thy chance with me? i. 2 I'll take the better care i. 4 if each of you would take this course within my bosom takes off my manhood great the answer be Britons must take take no stricter render of me v. 3 of their broken debtors take a third for Imogen's dear life take mine v. 4 take pieces for the cure's sake v. 4 if you will take this audit, take this life our son is good, take off his miseries that take upon them to know; or take and take him from our presence v. 4 take him hence; the whole world v. 4 take that life, beseech you v. 5 take Titus' part, and so supplant Titus Andronicus, i. 2 take up this good old man i. 2 take this of me, the success was i. 1 brave boys, and take your turns this letter? take it up, I pray thee i. 3 they should take him for a stag i. 3 Andronicus himself did take it up i. 4 some, brother, take these i. 2 he takes false shadows for true (rep.) and take choice of all my library i. 1 see that you take no longer days i. 2 sir, take you to your toils i. 3 take break on the cure's sake i. 3 to take up a matter of brawl 'cause they take vengeance of such v. 2 he firmly takes me for Revenge v. 2 take my miseries along with me v. 2 I take them, Chiron, and Demetrius good uncle, take you in this barbarous draw night, and take your places v. 3 O take this warm kiss on thy pale cold power to take thee for the cure's sake Pericles, i. 2 treason, will take away your life i. 2 I'll take thy word for faith i. 1 why, do ye take it, and the gods give i. 1

TAKED—here take your place Pericles, iii. 3 since men take women's gifts for i. 3 take I your word to the sea i. 4 who takes offence at that would make their doom, will take the crown iii. (Gower) Lychorida, her nurse, she takes iii. (Gower) take in your arms this piece of i. 1 take my word, at take my word i. 1 take from my heart all thankfulness i. 3 lively will I take me to, and never i. 4 to take off by treason's knife iv. (Gower) Leonine, take her by the arm iv. 3
 Boul, take you the marks of her iv. 3
 O take her home, mistress, take her iv. 3 (to take your imagination) iv. 4 (Gower) you must take some pains iv. 6 how's this? we must take another course iv. 6 Boul, take her away iv. 6 to take from you the jewel you iv. 6 prove that I cannot, take me home again iv. 6 whose hand must take my plight Leary, i. 1 take thy reward; fix thy heels i. 1 to their dear shelter take thee, maid i. 1 I take up what's cast away i. 1 take more composition and fierce quality you will best take it by the ear (rep.) i. 2 else will take the thing she begs i. 4 tarry, and take the fool with thee i. 4 let me still take away the harms i. 4 take you some company, and away i. 4 take the change of days i. 1 set guard to take my brother i. 2 and take vanity the puppet's part i. 2 an' they will take it, so i. 2 take vantage, heavy eyes i. 2 take it off; do not take it off i. 2 to take the indisposed and sickly i. 4 I pray you, sir, take patience i. 4 send down, and take my part! i. 4 and bids what will take all i. 1 take that which contains i. 1 from my senses take all feeling rise i. 4 take physic, pomp, expose thyself i. 4 let this tyrannous night take hold i. 4 good, my lord, take the change of days i. 4 let him take the fellow. Take him you that the open air; take it thankfully i. 6 man of justice, take thy place i. 6 thy sheep shall take no harm iii. 6 (song) take my breast from the world i. 6
 my tears begin to take his part i. 6 I pry'thee take him in thy arms i. 6 take up thy master (rep.) i. 6 revenges we are bound to take upon i. 7 and take the change of days i. 7 here, take this purse, thou whom when they did take his eyes? i. 2 helps him, take all my outward worth i. 4 I would not take this from report i. 6
 take my breast from the world i. 6
 of his fortune take like hold on thee i. 6 villain, take my purse i. 6 wrong, to take me out o' the grave i. 7 which of them shall take v. 1 to take the widow excommunicate v. 2 here, father, take the shadow of this v. 2 some officers take them away (rep.) v. 3 take upon us the mystery of things v. 3 gentle, take thou my soldier's sword v. 3 take my sword, give it the captive v. 3 star-crossed lovers take their life Romeo & Jul. (prol.)
 I will take the wall of any man or i. 1 take it in what sense thou wilt (rep.) i. 1 take the change of days of our i. 1 and let them take it as they list i. 2 take thou some new infection to i. 2 take our good meaning i. 4 that he helps not to take away? i. 5 my long life, take my long life i. 5 while my prayer's effect I take i. 5 take all myself. I take thee i. 2 and I will take thy word i. 2 I'll take him down an' a're lustier i. 4 if I take it, is a gentlemanlike offer Peter, take my fan, and go before i. 1 not take some occasion without giving? i. 1 now, Tybalt, take the villain back again could not take truce with the unruly i. 2 take him and cut him out in little stars i. 2 take up those cords i. 2 death, not Romeo, take my maidenhead bid him come to take his last farewell i. 2 see how he will take of your presence i. 5 take me with you, take me with you take thou this phial, being then in bed i. 4 hold, take these keys i. 4 you take your penny worths now i. 5 take my hand, take my hand i. 1 but break it, and take this. My poverty hold, take this letter; early in v. 3 but, chiefly, to take thence from her take thou that's live, and be prosperous v. 3 take thou that's dead, and take his name v. 3 take her from her borrowed grave (rep.) v. 3 will not let belief take hold of him Hamlet, i. 1 and this, I take it, is the main motive i. 1 no fatry takes, nor witch hath power to i. 1 take him to the right, and take his rouse peevish opposition take it to heart? i. 2 he was a man, take him for all in all i. 2 take each man's censure, but reserve i. 3 you must not take for fire i. 3 doth take to the right, and take his rouse indeed, it takes from our achievements i. 4 take corruption from that particular fault i. 4 take you as 'twere, some distant i. 1 take the change of days, take the change of days take this from this, if this other be i. 2 you cannot, sir, take anything that I will want to take such delight in i. 2

TAKES prisoner Pyrrhus' ear Hamlet, iii. 2 in general synod, take away her power i. 2 is in your bowels, take them in i. 2 why, I should take it; for it cannot be i. 2 or to take arms against a sea of troubles i. 1 patient merit of the unworthy takes i. 1 their perfume lost, take these again i. 1 going to take off my edge i. 2 [Cost. Knt.] you must take husbands i. 2 it is not a thing to rejoice at iii. 6 thou makest use of any thing iii. 7 minding true things, by what iv. (chorus) some soul of goodness, in things evil iv. 1 charitably dispose of any thing iv. 1 my friends, and all things stay for me iv. 1 such outward things dwell not in iv. 3 all things are ready; if our minds be so iv. 3 and every thing that's adventurously there is figures in all things iv. 7 due course of things, which cannot v. (chorus) why and wherefore in all things v. 1 and every thing that seems unnatural

 and every thing that seems unnatural any thing in, or out of, our demands v. 2 his glass for the love of any thing he after that things are set in order Henry VI. ii. 2 and every thing that's out of maintain the thing you teach ii. 2 for things that are not to be remedied that, for a toy, a thing of no regard ii. 3 tush! that's a wooden thing ii. 3 stratagem that's possible ii. 3 we'll see these things effected Henry VI. i. 2 wouldst any thing with me? i. 3 and things called whips? ii. 1 see the lists and all things fit ii. 3 for things of other sort ii. 2 sirs, have you despatched this thing?
 are all things well, according as iii. 2 judgest all things, stay my thoughts ever did contain a thing of worth ii. 2 small things make base men proud ii. 2 the first thing we do, let's kill all ii. 2 is not this a lamentable thing iv. 2 I did but seal once to a thing iv. 2 and henceforward all things shall iv. 7 as all things shall rebound v. 1 pay, and every thing you wish v. 1 any thing I have is his to use v. 1 how sweet a thing it is to wear Henry VI. i. 2 to great things, but ever ii. 2 no wrong, but a thing is right ii. 2 never will I undertake the thing ii. 6 hath a thing to grant, before the ii. 2 why 'tis a happy thing to be the ii. 2 that's the first thing that we iv. 3 yet in this one thing let me iv. 6 if a thing comes in his head v. 5 partake of any thing we say Richard III. i. 1 excepting venom'd things that lives! i. 1 now 'tis to despetch this thing? i. 2 I have done these things, that now i. 4 it is a dangerous thing (rep.) i. 4 in common worldly things ii. 2 how is the wretchedest thing ii. 2 in weightier things you'll say 'bear 'tis a vile thing to die, my gracious lord are all things ready for the royal time?
 no doubt, tempt him to any thing? iv. 2 if you'll do the thing that I have v. 3 yet one thing more, good captain v. 3 all things are in readiness v. 3 a thing devised by the enemy v. 3 things not that bear witness Henry VIII. (prol.) the first of every thing wild by a i. 1 order gave each thing view i. 1 that followed was a thing inspired i. 1

THING—done in this, and all things! Henry VIII. i. 1 but you frame things that are known i. 2 things done well, and with a care i. 3 things done with a care i. 3 of him things to strike honour i. 2 pledge it, madam, for 'tis to such a thing i. 4 every thing that heard him play iii. 1 (song) if ye be any thing but churchmen iii. 1 never attempt any thing on him v. 2 ye appear in every thing may iii. 2 because all those things, you have done iii. 2 such things have been done v. 1 this happy thing, did I get any thing the joints of every thing (rep.) Troilus & Cress. i. 2 I well, cousin, I told you a thing i. 2 swords? any thing, he cares not i. 2 things won are done—joy's soul lies i. 2 men prize the thing ungaid more i. 2 why, then, the thing of courage i. 3 each thing meets in mere i. 3 then every thing includes i. 3 things to come at large i. 3 thou thing of no bowels, thou ii. 1 to guard a thing not ours ii. 2 unworthy of a thing so stolen ii. 2 such things as might offend ii. 3 and any thing may be sport ii. 3 things small as nothing, for ii. 3 in love with a thing you have iii. 1 speak the thing I shall repent iii. 1 through the sight I bear in things iii. 3 no more things like men do iii. 3 nature, what things there are iii. 3 what things again most dear iii. 3 remuneration for the thing it was iii. 3 made and moulded of things past iii. 3 since things in hand iv. 1 the thing he means to kill iv. 1 deprecate the thing that you desire iv. 1 deceived, I think of no such thing iv. 2 but I can tell you a thing more iv. 2 bid me do anything but the thing v. 2 that a thing inseparate divides v. 2 Patroclus will give me any thing for v. 2 and what one thing, what another v. 3 in every thing that I do v. 3 a thing slipped idly from me Timon of Athens, i. 1 that few things loves better i. 1 know, things of like value i. 1 how things go from him ii. 2 but I can tell you a thing more ii. 2 as I understand how all things go iii. 6 believe, that we'll do anything for gold iv. 3 what things in the world canst iv. 3 but men, men are the things themselves iv. 3 some things like men do iv. 3 each thing's a thief, the laws iv. 3 what viler thing upon the earth iv. 3 and nothing brings me all things v. 2 digest things rightly touching the Coriolanus, i. 1 were any thing but what I scarce i. 1 besides, if one thing go well, opinion i. 1 tell me one thing that I shall ask you ii. 1 neither me, yourselves, nor any thing ii. 1 in truth, there were no things spoke only there is one thing wanting ii. 2 he was a thing of blood, whose every and looked upon things precious ii. 2 if we give you anything, we hope to ii. 3 in all things shall we do ii. 3 have done many things, some less ii. 3 of all things upon the earth iii. 1 it is a purposed thing, and grows iii. 1 hence, rotten thing, or I shall shake things created, and I do not iv. 3 but a small thing would make it iv. 3 tell you most strange things from Rome iv. 3 from you cloud speak divine things iv. 5 thou noble thing! more dances my iv. 5 than the young man's deed that he leads them like a thing made by iv. 6 you are goodly things, you voices! iv. 6 that he bears all things fairly iv. 7 not to be other than one thing iv. 7 for such things as you, I can scarce v. 2 the things, I have forsworn to grant v. 3 you will not grant us any thing v. 3 it is no little thing, to make v. 3 he's more than a creeping thing v. 3 as a thing made for Alexander v. 4 you worse than senseless things! Julius Caesar, i. 1 by reflection, by some other things i. 2 in awe of such a thing as I myself i. 2 to great, and awe of such a thing i. 2 could be moved to smile at any thing or said any thing amiss, he desired i. 3 did Cicero say any thing? i. 2 shakes like a thing unfirm? i. 3 saw you anything more wonderful? i. 3 they are portentous things unto the construe things after their fashion (rep.) i. 3 why all these things change, from i. 3 as if a thing as Caesar? i. 3 no colour for the thing he meant i. 3 between the acting of a dreadful thing will never follow any thing that ii. 1 I will strive with things impossible ii. 1 the things that threaten me ii. 1 besides the things that we have ii. 2 these things are beyond all use ii. 2 ah me, how weak a thing the heart ii. 4 to young Octavius of the state of things iii. 1 played down for me iii. 2 in this mood will give us any thing iii. 2 things unluckily charge my fantasy iii. 3 listen great things: Brutus and Cassius iv. 1 to wish things done, undone iv. 3 every thing is a thing iv. 3 art thou any thing? art thou some god iv. 3 didst thou see any thing? iv. 3

THING—credit things that do Julius Cæsar, v. 1 of men the thing that are not? v. 3 alas, thou hast misconstrued every thing v. 3 how every thing is chanced v. 4 whom every thing becomes, Antony & Cleopatra, i. 1 most any thing, Alexas, Almas, i. 2 let's you, sir, and I know things i. 2 things, that are past, are done i. 2 in each thing give him way i. 3 whom these things cannot blemish i. 4 last thing he did, dear queen i. 4 decays the thing we see for ii. 1 I learn, you take things ill ii. 2 for vilest things become themselves ii. 2 pyramids are very goodly things ii. 7 what manner of thing is your crossdite? ii. 7 this creature's no such thing iii. 3 I have one thing more to ask him iii. 3 but let determined things to destiny iii. 6 and things outward do draw iii. 6 for the things he speaks may concern iv. 9 the thing why thou hast drawn it iv. 12 the breaking of so great a thing should v. 1 to do that thing that ends all v. 2 as things but for the thing I have v. 2 not petty things admitted v. 2 things of such dignity as we v. 2 for things that others do v. 2 of things that merchants sell v. 2 glad at the thing thing strowl at Cymbeline, i. 1 as a thing too bad for bad report i. 1 thou basest thing, avoid i. 2 O, disloyal thing, thou shouldst repair i. 2 thou foolish thing! they were again i. 2 but had most worthy things to say i. 2 those things I bid you do, get them i. 4 the other is not a thing for sale i. 5 we will have these things set down i. 5 depend on a man that keeps you i. 5 it is a thing I mark which hath i. 6 since doubting things ill, often i. 7 more vexed at any thing in the earth i. 7 a very excellent good-concoited thing ii. 3 with every thing that I know ii. 3 this is a thing which you might from ii. 4 a profit from all things we see ii. 4 in simple and low things, to price it ii. 4 would be interpreted a thing perplexed ii. 4 a thing the more worthy of grief ii. 4
 'tis empty of all things, but grief ii. 5 a thing more made of malice ii. 5 believes it is a thing most precious ii. 5 I forgot to ask him one thing ii. 5 this is the second thing strowl at ii. 6 if any thing that's civil, speak ii. 6 yet this imperseverant thing loves iv. 1 and base things sire base iv. 2 a thing more slavish did I never iv. 2 from one bad thing to see iv. 2 all solemn things should answer iv. 2 thou basest thing! Jove knows iv. 2 what thing is it, that I never iv. 4 rather to wonder at such things you hear iv. 4 amongst his foes, a thing pity! iv. 4 Iachimo, slight thing of Italy v. 4 such noble fury in so poor a thing v. 5 this one thing only I will entertain v. 5 I see a thing that's more than death v. 5 the same dead thing alive v. 5 any thing that's due to all v. 5 all the abhorred things of the earth v. 5 was not thought by me a precious thing v. 5 O gods, I left out nothing of the world v. 5 and every thing in readiness, Titus Andronicus, i. 3 when every thing doth make a gleeful ii. 3 and one thing more, that womanhood ii. 3 once to behold the thing ii. 4 O wondrous thing! how ii. 4 thou shalt be employed in these things iii. 1 now, what a thing it is to be an ass! iv. 2 I'll show thee wondrous things v. 1 and hast a thing within thee, called v. 1 have done a thousand dreadful things v. 2 the thing the which is flattered Pericles, i. 2 O sir, things must be as they may ii. 1 let me ask one thing. What do you ii. 5 who thought of such a thing? (Dower) iii. 3 here is a thing for you iii. 4 cannot not do a thing? the world iv. 1 such a maiden-head were no cheap thing iv. 3 did you ever dream of such a thing? iv. 5 I'll do any thing that's virtuous iv. 6 tell me the thing first. Come (rep.) iv. 6 do any thing but this thou dost iv. 6 some such thing indeed I said v. 1 no needful thing omitted v. 3 commit a thing to me Lear, i. 4 to do her for any thing i. 4
 I had rather be any kind of thing i. 4 else will take the thing she begs i. 4 no further with any thing you know i. 5 unless things be short i. 5 I have one thing, of a queasy question ii. 1 are in the poorest thing superfluous ii. 4 I will do such things—what they are ii. 4 that things might change, or cease ii. 4 commend a dear thing to you ii. 4 things that love night, love not ii. 2 that can make vile things precious ii. 2 there is some strange thing toward ii. 3 to ponder on things would hurt me more ii. 3 thou art the thing itself ii. 3 leaving free things, and happy shows iii. 6 allows itself to any thing iii. 7 lowest, and most dejected thing of fortune iv. 1 you changed the colour of your face iv. 3 these things sting his mind so venomously iv. 3 what thing was that which parted from iv. 6 that thing you speak of, I took it iv. 6 to say ay and no, to every thing I said! iv. 6

THING—they told me I was every thing Lear, ii. 6
 take upon us the mystery of things v. 3 great thing of us forgot! v. 3 and low, an excellent thing in woman v. 3 O any thing, of nothing first Romeo & Juliet, i. 1 can you repay my love you see? i. 2 and every thing in extremity i. 2 a tender thing. Is love a tender thing? i. 4 while they do dream things true i. 4 unwashed too, 'tis a foul thing i. 5 wish but for the thing I have ii. 2 why, is not this a lamentable thing ii. 4 thou wast never with me for any thing ii. 4 it's an' speak any thing against me ii. 4 it were an ill thing to be offered ii. 4 a little prating thing, there's ii. 4 every unworthy thing, live here in ii. 3 things have fallen out, sir, so iii. 4 will undertake a thing like death iv. 1 things that to quar them told iv. 2 all things shall be well, I warrant these iv. 2 things for the cook, sir iv. 5 but one thing to rejoice and solace in iv. 5 all things, that we ordained festival iv. 5 and all things of them iv. 5 and do the thing I bid thee do v. 1 put this in any liquid thing you will v. 1 much I fear some ill unlucky thing v. 3 to have more talk of these sad things v. 3 in this, she appears again Hamlet, i. 1
 If there be any good thing to be done i. 1 a guilty thing upon a fearful summons i. 1
 In that, and all things, will we show i. 2 the most vulgar thing to sense i. 2 and things rank and gross in them i. 2 form of the thing, each word made true i. 4 being a thing immortal as itself? i. 4 there are more things in heaven and earth i. 5
 'twere a thing a little soiled! I the i. 2 take from me a thing that's evil i. 2 any thing—but to the purpose i. 2 it appears no other thing to me i. 2 fly at any thing we see i. 2 the more things that are in the world i. 2 no more use to the thing that helps it i. 3 as made the things more rich i. 3 I could accuse me of such things i. 3 for any thing so overdone is from i. 3 how many things that you make of? i. 3 ten thousand lesser things are mortised i. 3 the king is a thing—a thing, my lord? i. 2 and every thing is bent for England i. 3 for every thing is sealed and done i. 3 live to say, this thing to do i. 4 speaks things in doubt, that carry i. 5 of itself after the thing it loves i. 5 wisdom, all things else, you mainly i. 7 is it some abuse? and no such thing? i. 7 that think you do not know from death i. 7 pry thee, Horatio, tell me one thing v. 2 impart a thought to you from his majesty v. 2 for your mind dislike any thing v. 2 things and things unknown v. 2 how these things came about? v. 2 sir, I will answer any thing Othello, i. 1 Roderigo, of some such thing? i. 1
 I'll refer me to all things of sense i. 2 the sooty bottom of such a thing i. 2 of country, credit, every thing, to fall i. 3 these things to hear, would Desdemona i. 3 such things else of quality and respect i. 3 but I do beguile the thing I am i. 3 which thing to do, do you make of? i. 3 of his place, that does those things i. 3 I remember a mass of things, but nothing ii. 3 though other things grow fair ii. 3 two things are to be done, my wife must ii. 3 never any thing that's good ii. 3 I'll intermingle every thing he does ii. 3 for such things, in a false disloyal knave ii. 3 whereinto foul things sometimes intrude ii. 3 we see, in all things nature tends ii. 3 to scan this thing no further ii. 7 than keep a corner in the thing I love ii. 3 a thing for you. A thing for me? (rep.) ii. 3 can any thing be made of this? ii. 4 men's natures wrangle with inferior things ii. 4 hath he said any thing? He hath, my lord ii. 4 and weep not; all things shall be well ii. 4 an old thing 'twas, but it expressed ii. 3 the world is a huge thing; 'tis a great price ii. 3 marry, I could not say a thing ii. 2 why any thing; an honourable murder ii. 2 THINK—I do not think thou canst Tempest, i. 2 my heart bleeds to think i. 2 he thinks me now incapable i. 2 does thou think so, spirit? i. 2
 I think, he will carry this island home ii. 1
 I do think, a king; I would, not so iii. 1 when I shall think, or Phœbus' steeds iv. 1 may I be bold to think these spirits? iv. 1 does thou think so, spirit? iv. 1 I rather think you have not sought v. 1 scarce think their eyes do offices v. 1 if I did think, sir, I were well awake v. 1 and think of each thing well v. 1 think, when Proteus, when Titus of Verona, v. 1 I think you'll hardly win her i. 1 of many good I think him best i. 2 I think him so, because I think him so i. 2 of all the best, this best loves ye i. 2 and sent, I think, from Proteus i. 2
 I think, your lordship is not (rep.) i. 3
 I can hardly think you my master ii. 1 you think too much of so much pains? ii. 1 I think, I am my lord ii. 4 and, I think, no other treasure ii. 4 I think 'tis no unwelcome news ii. 4 nay, sure I think, she holds ii. 4 if you think so, then ii. 7

THINK my patience more Tro Gen. of Verona, iii. 1 to think that she is by iii. 1 to have the way to my heart iii. 1 but Thurio thinks so iii. 2 and also, I think, thou art not iii. 2 ay, but she'll think, that iii. 2
 I think, I am me, I know I iv. 2
 I think 'tis almost day iv. 2 think not I flatter, for I swear I do not iv. 3 but think upon my grief iv. 3
 I think verily he had been iv. 4 not so, I think she lives iv. 4 to think upon her woes iv. 4 she thinks that Proteus (rep.) iv. 4 when she did think my master iv. 4 to think upon thy words iv. 4 I think, if I had such a tire iv. 4 and think thee worthy iv. 4 what think you of this page (rep.) v. 4 ay, I think my cousin meant well, Merry Wives, i. 1
 I think there are, sir i. 1
 I shall think the worse of fat men ii. 1
 I think, the best way were to ii. 1 what doth he think of us? ii. 1 do you think there is truth in them? ii. 1 I do not think the knight ii. 1 and I think he hath appointed ii. 1 surely, I think you have charms ii. 2 I think myself in better plight ii. 2 and bid her do what a man I live ii. 1
 I think you know him ii. 1
 I think, if your husbands were dead ii. 2
 I think, I shall drink in pipe-wise ii. 2
 I think, my husband has some ii. 3 and bid her do what a man I live ii. 5
 I think of that, a man of my kidney (rep.) ii. 5
 I think you have killed iv. 2 by yea and no, I think the 'oman iv. 2 what think you iv. 2
 he will never think in the way iv. 4 so think I too iv. 4 think on't Jove, a foul fault v. 5 the fastest, I think, 'ill the forest v. 5 think, the doer of it, I do not have v. 5 and think not on their sins v. 5 I think, we have watched you v. 5 do you think, though we would v. 5 I think, to repay that money v. 5 if I did not think it had been you v. 5 I think so, when I took a boy v. 5 what think you, sailors? Twelfth Night, i. 2 do you think you have fools in hand? i. 3 why I think so; I am not such i. 3 never in your face i. 3 and I think, I have the back trick i. 3
 I did think, by the excellent i. 3
 I think not so, my lord i. 4 those wits, that think they are wise i. 5 that think you of his fool, Malvolio? i. 5 one would think his mother's milk i. 5 but I think, it rather consists of i. 3 dost thou think, because thou i. 3 do not think I have never wast where i. 3 so crammed, as he thinks, with i. 3 he shall think, by the letters i. 3 I think it well, my lord i. 4 what should I think on't? i. 5
 I think I shall be very ill i. 5 for him, I think not on him i. 1 what might you think? i. 1 that tyrannous heart can think? i. 1 do you do think, you are not i. 1
 I think, I think so, I think I shall i. 1 then think you right; I am not i. 1
 I think, oxen and wainpores cannot ii. 2 and your store, I think, is not for ii. 3 I think we do know the sweet iv. 4 do you think I do not know you? iv. 2 I think nobody of the soul v. 1 but I would not have you to think v. 1 I think you set nothing by v. 1 think of me as you please v. 1 (letter) to think me as well a sister as a wife v. 1 what figure of us think you he Ment. for Meas. i. 1 what think you of it? (rep. iii. 1) i. 1 nor do I think the man of i. 1 for, I think, thou never wast where i. 2
 I think, or in any religion i. 2
 I think thou dost i. 2
 I think, I have done myself wrong i. 2 and never think of it i. 1
 I think, I think, I think, I think i. 2
 I think no less i. 1
 let not your worship think me ii. 1 what's o'clock, think you? ii. 1
 O do think that you might pardon ii. 2 O think on this while I do ii. 2 hail to you, provost! so I think you are ii. 3 as I do think, to-morrow ii. 3 pray and think, I think and pray ii. 4 I think it well ii. 4 think not that I can be on such iii. 1 dost thou think, Claudio iii. 1 what should I think? heaven shield iii. 1 if you think well to carry this iii. 1 do thou but think what 'tis to gra iii. 2 but where is he, think you? iii. 2 is it true, think you? iii. 2 if you think it meet, compound iv. 2 your true man thinks it big enough iv. 2 your third thing, I think, is enough iv. 2 you will think you have made no iv. 2 think, it were mistress Overdone's iv. 3 and I think, forty more iv. 3 do we jest now, think you? iv. 6 I think, I did not think strange iv. 6 who thinks, he knows, that he (rep.) v. 1 marry, sir, I think, if you handled v. 1 to think can be undiscernable v. 1 which I did think with slower foot v. 1 can'st thou remember a time before — — in the dark backward and abyss of time? — — as, at that time, through all — — that have more time for vainer hours — — the time 'twixt six and now — — before the time be out? — — within which time she died — — not since widow Dido's time — — and time in good time — — and time to speak it in — — conspiracy his time doth take — — in the moon, when time was — — and many a time more gone — — and many a time the harmony — — for yet, ere supper time, must I — — give me the lie another time — — after a little time, I'll beat — — but one fiend at a time — — given to work a great time after — — we shall lose our time — — and time goes upright — — at which time, my lord — — at this time I'll tell no tales — — wherefore waste I time to counsel, Two Gen. of Ver., i. 1 neglect my studies, lose my time — — is it near dinner time? — — to let him spend his time no more — — consider well the loss of time — — by the swift course of time — — and in good time — — that thou shalt spend some time — — a thousand times it answers, no — — as a thousand times it answers, no — — or else for want of idle time — — why muse you, sir? 'tis dinner time — — and done too, for this time — — the sweet benefit of time — — he means to spend his time — — for that food so long a time — — of greater time than I shall show to be — — the fashion of the time is changed — — will give thee time to leave — — as the nurse and breeder — — the time now serves not to — — a little time will melt her (rep.) — — for this time I spend in talking — — as houses do in good time — — say a thousand times — — a hundred several times — — and at that time, I made her weep — — to come before their time — — O time, thou curst god, — — and have done any time these Merry Wives, i. 1 seen Sackerson lose twenty times — — he kept not time — —

the next time we have confidence — —

TIME—holiday time of my beauty, Merry Wives, ii. 1 in these times, you and on distance — — I have seen the time — — she thanks you a thousand times — — she hopes there will come a time — — much of your time in exchange — — for that time — —
use your patience; in good time — — so speed me in my time to come! — — the last time he searched for him — — I did last time — —
help to search my house this one time — — doth all the winter time — — and in that time, shall master — — from time to time I have acquainted — — when slender sees his time, take — — this is the third time — — away I say, time wears — — when you see your time — — his time to smother — —
I was three or four times in the thought — — 'tis time I were choked with a piece — — to time, I will commit Twelfth Night, i. 2 would I had bestowed that time in — —
'tis my time that time — — O time, thou must untangle this — — 'tis not the first time I have — — like tinkers at this time of night? — — out of time, in you? We did keep time, sir — — like this time? [Col.]—Sir, these — — most brisk and giddy-paced times — — one time or another — — you waste the treasure of your time — —
'tis a time of persons, and the time — —
'tis time to smother — — upbraids me with the waste of time — — you let time wash off — — albeit the quality of the time — — between which time — —
at which time, we will bring — — the time goes by; away — — what time we will our celebration keep — — what will thou be, when time hath — — of my time, for my time — — thou hast said to me a thousand times — — you shall run from this time be — — and golden time convents — — not of our concernings shall Meas. for Meas., i. 1
'tis not a dozen times at least — — I fill time had made them for us — — in time the rod becomes more mocked — — as blossoming time, that from — — of places, time, for my time — — which at that very distant time — — the time is yet to come — — so, for this time, Pompey — — you had continued in it some time — — between which time — —
ten times longer than he had — — may, call us ten times frail — — this night's the time that I should do — — in good time (rep. v. 1) — —
between which time — —
that the time may have all shadow — — by him in the duke's time — — to use it for my time — — making practice on the times — — time upon this time — — the time is come, even now — — you shall have your full time of — — an unlawful bawd, time out of mind — — in time, matter, or other — — Drunk many times at this time — —

TIME-ten times better than the nine. Henry IV, ii. 4 to profane the precious time ii. 4 twenty-nine years, come peaced time see the revolution of the times make other times, to see the besely fiddle the time shall come, thus did he (rep.) foretelling this same time's condition the nature of the times deceased become the hatch and brood of time
 'tis the more time you want used Mouldy, it is time you were spent let time shape, and there an end which way the stream of time doth run when time shall serve, to show in the condition of these times to lay the times to their necessities (rep.)
 the time misordered doth one time or other break some gallows rotten times, that you shall look upon will, in the perfectness of time, cast time's dotting chronicles, say (rep.) for now a time is come to mock to welcome the condition of the time and golden times, and happy news of O if I had had time to have made jumping o'er times Henry V, i. (chorus) the scambler and unquiet time did than ever at one time the elegy there was no time to sigh at one time bring in to each but when time shall serve their throats about them at that time will cut your throats one time or other God's God three or four times by custom, and the ordinance of times now he weighs time, even to it is no time to discourse I warrant you shall be served 'tis not the first time you were now is it time to arm entertain conjecture of a time the time was blessedly lost now the time was vexed and troubled and time hath worn us unto slovenly had ten times more valour the excuse of time, of numbers as in good time he may readily and fitly of or do not learn, for want of time this moral ties me over to time small time, but in that small change of times and states Henry VI, i. 1 at this time, until the time of Edward during the time Edward the Third some other time to visit you were growing time once ripened which in the time of Henry, named may finish ere that hapless time defer no time, delays have may starve, perhaps, before that time my determined time thou gaves' now the time is come to France now cursed be the time of life be still a while, till time do serve Henry VI, i. 1 next time, I'll keep my dreams unto look to't in time
 let time, I do not know wards know their times (rep.) that time best fits the work we being called a hundred times and many time and oft myself have twenty times to many times (rep.) we know the time, since he was every one will give the time of day which time will bring to light until your further time of trial dare him twenty thousand times twenty times his worth, they say leather a hundred times to part ten times banished (rep.) o'er whom, in time to come, I hope in whose time boys went to span-counter shall be beheld for it ten times for, many a time (rep.) of, one or both of us the time is come contentions and all brush of time three times to time, to help him (rep.) not enough our foes this time are fled into it far before thy time? Henry VI, i. 1 three times did Richard make o'errun my former time dare time to do him dead O ten times more, than tigers in this troublesome time, what's to be done?
 what time the shepherd, blowing then to divide many times O heavy times, begetting times mine, ten times so much which in the time of death he gave for the time shall not seem tedious let come some time, to be from the golden time I look forl and time oppresseth wrongs a silly time to make prescription brother, the time and case
 'tis no time to be in the likely in time, to bless a regal night, or in the time of war king Edward in his time of storm take the time, kneel down let ten times more be loved if she have time to breathe cried, aboding luckless time but that we spend the time with set before my time in this Richard III, i. 1 time of peace have no delight (rep.) good time of day unto (rep., i. 3) and twenty times made pause in that sad time, my manly eyes
 'tis time to speak, my pains are

TIME-all which time, you, and your. Richard III, i. 1 full of dismal terror was the time cited up a thousand heavy times such leisure in the time of death and a good time (rep., ii. 1 and iv. 1) a happy time of day (rep., iv. 1) are all things ready for that royal time? my noble lord, may name the time in happy time, here comes three times to-day my foot doth horse I prophecy the fearful'st time to thee at any time, to grace my stratagems for my meetest vantage of the time by just computation of the time have, any time, recourse unto mellowed by the stealing hours of time the corruption of abusing time [Col. Kn.] within so small a time could not at that time, have told me prophecy, the time would come left thee but a very prey to time the ruins of distressful times repaired ten times double gain of by the time to come (rep.) hereafter time, for time past not by time to come (rep.) the necessity, and state of times where and what time your majesty which, I think, Edward the Fourth wished my heart is ten times lighter than much about cock-shut time, from advantage will deceive the time the fearful times unto off why, 'tis time to arm, and enforcement of the time forbids to enrich the time to come with whole time I was my chamber's Henry VIII, i. 1 I this time, paid out the ten times more ugly than ever heard him at any time speak aught?
 I remember of such a time
 'tis time to give them physic I this time, shall be longer than I have time to tell his years' when old time shall lead him to a most unfit time to disturb him I'll make you know your times of I may then spare that time at all times to your will conformable course and process of this time will be bold with time, and your 'tis time, and count for the offer of this time, I cannot promise though now the time gives way to us you have scarce time to steal for holy offices I have a time; a time to 'tis time, does qualify her times of but that time offered sorrow like rams in the old time of war the times, and titles, now are given time had cured me times to review our nature with (rep.) may find good time, and live with which the time will lead him we trifle time away; I long the three times on the head, three times which time shall bring to ripeness for this play at this time, is only the next time I see her Troilus & Cressida, i. 1 time must friend or end you the time of your death loss of time, travel, expence fame, in time to come instructed by the antiquary times for this time will I take my leave by your time, I shall find the advantage of the time prompts all that time, acquaintance time hath, my lord, a wallet for time is like a fashionable to envious and calumniating time an effeminate man in time of action six or seven times honoured bitter disposition of the time will time, force, and death, do to this body things roughly by all time of pause Injurious time now, with a robber's anticipating time with starting walked hand in hand with time I have seen the time; I wonder now bit three times on the head, three times I will the second time, as I would the time right deadly when many times the captive and, at that time, beguile
 'tis time, and fortune, to lie Timon of Ath., i. 1 what time o' day is't near to be honest. That time near? why then another time I'll hear I do not see the time the time is unagreeable to this wherefore, ere this time, had you not at many times I brought in my yet now's a time, the greatest the time of universal peace is near many a time and often I have can't use the time well, if the time that this is no time to lend money myself against such a good time
 'tis time, and fortune, to lie might purchase his own time the good time of day to you, sir it does; but time will—and so, trencher-fishes, time's flies, cap and then was a blessed time, and time hath made thee hard in't there is no time so miserable meet with this time's guise strange times, that weep with laughing

TIME-have feared false times. Timon of Athens, iv. 3 nothing at this time but my visitation promising is the very air of the time at all times alike men are not (rep.) filled with his fairer hand the time will give us now the time is flush, when there was a time, when all the Coriolanus, i. 1 it will in time win upon power beat me out twice of my good times 'tis time to be in good time a happier and more comely time in the interpretation of the time yet one time he did call me in the same time, he did call me the interpretation of full time keep your name living to time that so short a time can ever 'tis the first time that ever I was may a time say to you Julius Caesar, i. 2 men at some time are masters and of these times, I shall recount and find a time both meet to hear as this time is like to lay upon us every time gentler than the other then he offered it the third time (rep.) for this time I will leave you indeed, it is a strange-disposed time of our souls, the time to abuse

 'tis time to part. But is't O what a time have you chose out towards die many times before you are come in very happy time break up the senate till another time
 'Trebuchon knows his time; for look
 'tis but the time, and drawing days I abridged his time of fearing death how many times shall Caesar bleed in every time lived than other times I remember the first time ever Caesar in such a time as this, it is not his humour, when he knows his time young bloods look for a time of rest the very last time of his time so to prevent the time of life time is come round, and, where I did I shall find time, Cassius, I shall (rep.) two several times by night what best time shall I choose let's not confound the time with Antony & Cleo.
 and the time's state made friends of
 I have seen her die twenty times in time we hate that which we often then was the time for words to be strong necessity of time commands to confound such time, that drams 'tis time we twain did show to frank this present time, and sleep out this great gap of time, my and wrinkled beard in time?
 like to the time of the year between a time for private stomaching (rep.) you shall have time to wrangle in time calls upon us; of our must being barbed ten times o'er all which time, before the gods my that I mel. O times! I laughed him that long time have been barren many times, madam. I am paid take your time. Thou can't at not well deserved ten times as much be a child of the time in time shall you be be you not troubled with the time from his time, what should not thou with news the time's with labour to try thy eloquence, now the time and at this time, no easy time I must stay his time
 the next time I do fight being twenty times of better fortune
 the time of universal peace is near the time is come; 'thou strik'st and time is at his period he shall in time be ready who in the wars of the time, died Cymbeline, i. 1 all the learning of the time for this time, leave me this gentleman at that time vouching with five times so much conversation your service for this time is ended looking up the space of time in time she will not quench five times redeemed from death should at one time encounter such I have outstood my time one, two, three,—time, time!

 is this true? (rep. iii. 2) ii. 1 come, tell me true ii. 1 but with true prayers ii. 2 as I take away from true me to the law upon that pain. True ii. 4 my false o'erweighs your true ii. 4 and I know this to be true (rep. iii. 2) iii. 1 true man's apparel. As you like it, i. 2 your true man thinks it big enough if they be true, if not true, none have heard me in my true complaint as true as it is strange (rep.) v. 1 and hide the false, secret true v. 1 that it were like as it is true v. 1 what he doth know is true, and false as this is true, let me in safety v. 1 my simple true judgment (rep. iii. 1). Much Ado, i. 1 I peradventure, this be true i. 3 impossible you should take true i. 3 to tell you true, I counterfeit him ii. 1 and I think I told him true, that your I think your blazon to be true ii. 1
 'tis true indeed, yet doth (rep.) ii. 1 can this be true? stand I condemn'd there's no true drop of blood in him are you good men and true? iii. 3 true, and they are to meddle with none virtue of your office, to be true men
 'tis very true iii. 3 and I will, like a true drunkard do not wrest true speaking iii. 4 and these things are true (rep.) iv. 1 though he thought his accusation true nothing but what was true iv. 1 in a false quarrel there is no true valour v. 1 true, says she, a fine little one v. 1 as it appears in the true course v. 4
 'tis most true. And I do with an eye scornful Lysander! true, he hath. Mid. N.'s Dr. i. 1 the course of true love never did run i. 1 if then true lovers have been ever i. 1 in the true performing of it i. 2 my heart is true as steel ii. 2 do it for thy true love take ii. 3 I thought you lord of more true ii. 3 as true as truest horse (rep.) iii. 1 the thistle with his true iii. 1 (song) the sun was not so true upon the day and how can you be true i. 2 make tender of to thy true worthiness true, and I for a plantain (rep.) iii. 1 my glass, take this for telling true iv. 1 true, that thou art beatitudes iv. 1 (letter)

 'tis true indeed; the collusion iv. 2

TRUE love's fasting pain Love's L. Lost, iv. 3 a true man, or a true iv. 3 true, true; we are four iv. 3 walk aside the true folk, and let iv. 3 as true we are, as flesh and blood iv. 3 both spring the true Promethean iv. 3 it rejoiceth my intellect v. 1 the numbers true; and, were v. 1 true; out, indeed v. 2 madam, speak true; it is not so v. 2 for how can I be true, that you v. 2 most true, 'tis right; you were so v. 2 true, and it was enjoined him in v. 2 for ever to be true to those that make v. 2 I'll serve thee true and faithfully v. 2 true, madam; he of all the men. Merr. of Venice, i. 2 this is my true begotten father ii. 2 wise, fair, and true, shall she be ii. 6 we gleaned from the true seed of ii. 9 but it is true, without any slips ii. 9 I thank God, is it true? is it true? iii. 1 nay, that's true, that's very true iii. 1 true subjects bow to a new-crowned chace as true iii. 2 whether what I see be true iii. 2 is this true, Nerissa? iii. 2 and then I told you true iii. 2 but is it true, Salerio? have all iii. 2 that are true friends iii. 2 you have a noble and a true conceit of how true a gentleman you send relief iii. 4 found thee honest, true, so let me iii. 4

 'tis very true: O wise and upright judge! iv. 1 and their true, and true perfection! v. 1 most true, I have lost my teeth As you Like it, i. 2
 'tis true for those, that she makes (rep.) i. 2 high commendation, true applause ii. 4 we that are true lovers, run into ii. 7 true it is that we have seen better ii. 7 sir, I am a true labourer ii. 2 speak as true as true ii. 2 then there is no true lover in ii. 3 is it a true thing? ii. 3 not true in love? ii. 4 the pale complexion of true love ii. 4 speak as true as true ii. 4 nay, 'tis true; there was never v. 2 I spake not true; this is called v. 2 vagabond, and no true traveller ii. 3 then my true goes not true ii. 3 and ever shall with true observance seek iii. 5 to the true and exact performer iii. 6 single vow, that is vowed true iv. 2 that's true; he's story true, even iv. 3 I will say true (rep.) iv. 3 tell me true, I charge you v. 3 by our true diligence Taming of Sh. i (induction)

 'tis very true; thou did'st it excellent i (induc.) I'll found to be true, I never ii. 2 to change true rules for odd ii. 2 why, thou say'st true (rep.) iv. 3 this is true, that I say; and I had iv. 3 right; true it is, your son iv. 4 but I think true, as true as also iv. 4
 I would that word were true v. 2 fair looks, and true obedience v. 2 yet were it true to say, this boy Winter's Tale, i. 2 sin as deep as that, though true i. 2 say it be, 'tis true. No, no, my lord i. 2 vanquished, thy words are true i. 2 maintain what he says and is true ii. 6 a true Plantagenet (rep. iii. 1) ii. 6 true; and thou see'st, that I no issue if Richard will be true, not that iii. 1 and, like true subjects, sons of iv. 1

TRUE—'tis true, I gave a noble to.... 1 Henry VI, v. 4
 You shall become true to him again couquer France, his true inheritance? 2 Hen. VI, i. 1 true, madam (rep. iii. 1) i. 4 true, uncle. Are you advised? (rep.) ii. 1 so long as I am loyal, true, and crimestless iii. 4 than from true violence, of good iii. 2 good Warwick, 'tis too true iii. 2 true nobility is exempt from fear iv. 1 true; and yet it is said (rep.) iv. 2 against thy oath and true allegiance never live but true unto a lusty v. 1 if dreams prove true v. 2 justice and true right express it v. 3 that is this true, father, behold 3 Henry VI, i. 1 true, Clifford, and that's Richard i. 2 before a true and lawful magistrate i. 4 so true men yield, with robbers so i. 4 if this news be true, poor queen iii. 1 we are true subjects to the king iii. 1 true true he keeps the wind iii. 2 impatience waiteth on true sorrow iii. 3 is Edward your true king? iii. 3 henceforth I am thy true servant iii. 3 is safe, if true within itself iv. 1 and their true reverend way iv. 1 to hold your true obedience iv. 1 God help Montague, as he proves true! iv. 3 and be true king indeed iv. 3 true heir to the English crown iv. 4 true, my good brother iv. 5 and my Troy's true hope iv. 5 if the rest be true which I v. 6 indeed, 'tis true, that Henry told v. 6 if King Edward be as true and just Richard III, i. 1 please to hide the true i. 2 then man was never true i. 2 if she be accused on true report i. 3
 I seal my true heart's love ii. 1
 I entreat true peace of you ii. 2 clarity, obedient, and true ii. 2 is firm, and true in me ii. 3 ay, sir, it is too true; God help ii. 3 if his rule were true, he should be ii. 4 my master's true and chief end ii. 4 clear God, with our true bloods ii. 5 [Col. Kn.] true computation of the time true ornaments to know a holy man true, noble prince, O bitter (rep.) ii. 7 true, when adieu grows whines ii. 7 bear her my true love's kiss iv. 4 O true, good Catesby; bid him with him, as I prove true to you iv. 4 true hope is swift, and flies v. 2 will our friends prove all true v. 4 the true successors of each ray v. 4 to make that only true we now Henry VIII, (prol.) and those of true condition i. 2
 'tis true; this night he makes i. 3 true, they are not; but few are i. 3 most true; these news are every where and every true heart weeps for't i. 2 been to you a true and humble wife, and, like her true nobility, she has i. 4 wife, a true one, as few men i. 4 believe it, this is true ii. 2 pronounce, you have found true ii. 2 and how true thou art: he will ii. 2 so noble, and so true a master? ii. 2 but very true, as few men iv. 4 and true beauty of the soul iv. 2 with a true heart, and brother-love (rep.) v. 2 as true thou tell'st me Troilus & Cressida, i. 2 true, he was so; I move the cause i. 2 say the true and not true i. 2 that's true; make no question i. 2 I'll be sworn, 'tis true; he will weep lie the true proof of men i. 3 strong joints, true sworn i. 3 O Grecian that true in duty v. 3 to the voice of any true decision ii. 2 be true to my lord: if he flinch ii. 2 who shall be true to us ii. 2 but, alas, I am true as true now ii. 2 true swains in love shall ii. 2 as true as steel, as plantage to ii. 2 as true as Troilus shall crown ii. 2 'faith, tell me true: even in iv. 1 will be so true to him, to be iv. 2 and it is true, that I must go from Troy? iv. 4 he than but true of heart, I true! iv. 4 I speak not, be thou true (rep.) iv. 4 but, I'll be true (rep.) iv. 4 plain and true as the sun iv. 4
 'tis true, that you are odd, and he son of Priam, a true knight iv. 5 it is true. Ho! bid my trumpet v. 3 with your true sword drawn v. 3 were there is no true shall of Athens, i. 2 I'll tell you true. I'll call on you i. 2 you tell me true. If you suspect ii. 2 is it true? can it be? They answer ii. 2 thou art true, and honest ii. 2 upon my soul, 'tis true, sir ii. 2 as you, as said, Timon is shrunk ii. 2 most true, he does (rep. iii. 5) iii. 4 true, for he hears it not about him iv. 3 so miserable, but a man may be true iv. 3 had I a steward so true, so just, and now but tell me true, (for I must ever doubt does the rumour hold for true v. 1 if it be a just and true report v. 1 true, when the day serves v. 2 for each true word a blister! v. 2 care for us! true, indeed! Coriolanus, i. 1 true is it, I incorporate friends i. 1 Marcus, 'tis true, that you have i. 1 true breed, your comrade i. 1 in earnest, it's true (rep.) i. 3 in an equal force (true sworn to sword) i. 10

TRUE—'tis true. Look, here's a letter. Coriolanus, ii. 1 true purchasing. The good grant (rep.) ii. 1 manifests the true knowledge ii. 3 guided by your own true affections ii. 3 in true fear they gave us our demands iii. 1 dishonour mangles true judgment iii. 1 true, the people are true iii. 3 say then: 'tis true (rep. iv. 5) iii. 3 thou old and true Menenius iv. 1 true, so I am, pray you, poor gentleman iv. 5 but I'm this true, sir iv. 6 art thou certain this is true? v. 4 would be glad to have this true, which telling true under him, must say v. 2 and my true lip hath virgin'd it v. 3 though I cannot make true wars v. 3 art thou certain this is true? v. 4 if you have writ your annals true v. 5
 'tis true, this god did shake Julius Caesar, i. 2 in the theatre, I am no true man i. 2 would consider the true cause i. 3 I can give his honour the true bent i. 1 and show yourselves true Romans ii. 1 you are my true and honourable wife ii. 1 if this were true, then should I know ii. 1 how I should be true to you ii. 1 of this untrod state, with all true mirth did love thee, Caesar, O 'tis true iii. 1 Caesar shall have all true rites iii. 1 most true, the will; let's stay iii. 1 cracker, you are true iii. 1 as you are a Roman; tell me true iv. 3
 'tis true, this parting was well made v. 1 no man, but he was true to me v. 5 hast proved Lucilius saying true v. 5
 'tis true, if he were putting Cleopatra, i. 3 you can be mine, and true i. 3 and give true evidence to his love i. 3 my learning from some true reports i. 2 but twelve persons there; is this true? ii. 2 he hath spent his true ii. 2 all men's faces are true (rep.) ii. 6 true, sir; she was the wife (rep.) ii. 6 the news is true, my lord ii. 7 I tell you true, my lord ii. 7 sovereign mistress of true melancholy to wear all your true followers out iv. 12 yet is it true, sir. I do well Cymbeline, i. 1 if it be a sin to make a true election i. 3 this true man (rep.) ii. 3 which makes the true man killed ii. 3 hangs both thief and true man ii. 3 since the true life on't was (rep.) ii. 4 O no, no, no; 'tis true (rep.) ii. 4 cracker, in a true ii. 4 then, true Pisanio, (who long'st, true honest man being heard iii. 4 took pity from this true wretchedness sir, in his letter true iii. 5 to be true villain, but true iii. 5 and true preferment shall tender itself and be true. Thou biddest me (rep.) iii. 5 to him that is most true iii. 5 when rich ones scarce tell true iii. 6
 I dare be bound he's true iv. 3
 I am honest; not true, to be true iv. 3 you have no true debtor and creditor to boast we never true nor modest true, so feat, so nurse, like me v. 6 he, true knight, no less of her v. 5 prince, as yours, is true Guiderius v. 5 tears of true joy for his return Titus Andronicus, i. 2 mercy is nobility, true i. 2 true nobility warrants these i. 2 my true betrothed love, and now i. 2
 'tis true; the raven doth not (rep. v. 3) i. 3 if his tears all be wet iii. 1
 I see shadow for true madry iii. 1 as true a dog as ever fought at head v. 3 gase witnesses of true experience v. 3 basely cozened of that true hand v. 3 drowned their enemy in my true tears v. 3 damned as he is, to witness this is true the last true duties of thy noble soul v. 3 be true, which makes me pale (rep.) Pericles, i. 1 a subject's shine, I a true prince i. 2 O 'tis too true. But see what heaven i. 4 is not this true? Our cheeks and hollow in course of true delight than iii. 2 say 'st true; 'tis not the bringing (rep.) iv. 3 stands for true old woe iv. 4 (Gower) if you have told Diana's altar true v. 3 in my true heart, I am true Lear, i. 1 so young, my lord, and true i. 1 the true blank of thine eye i. 1 shape as true, as honest madam's issue i. 2 have me whipped for speaking true ii. 1 for my true use, all vengeance comes ii. 1 but, for true need, you heavens ii. 4 but, true it is, from France there iii. 1 my good boys come, bring us true iii. 2 true, I false, it hath made thee end iii. 5 holds it true, sir, that the duke iv. 7 here is the guess of their true strength come on. And that's true too v. 2 you have spoken true (rep.) v. 2 true; and therefore women Romeo & Juliet, i. 1 by thy stay, to hear true shrift i. 1 while they do dream things true i. 4 true, I talk of dreams i. 4 for I never saw true beauty i. 5 I'll prove more true than those that my true love's passion ii. 2 sweet Montague, be true: stay but plants, stones, and their true qualities revolve in true use, but stumbling that last is true, the sweeter rest ii. 3 my man's as true as steel ii. 4

TRUE—my true love lies grown Romeo & Juliet, ii. 6 prince, as thou art true, for blood iii. 1 he speaks not true: some true unity iii. 1 that true love always beset me iii. 2 give this ring to my true knight iii. 2 usest none in that true use indeed iii. 3 my true heart with treacherous revolt to no issue of true coming iv. 1 my obscures, and true love's v. 3 O true apothecary! thy drugs v. 3 a cup, closed in my true love's hand v. 3 but the true ground of all these v. 3 spring, their head, their true v. 3 the noble Paris, and true Romeo, dead as that of true and faithful Juliet v. 3 without the sensible and true avouch Hamlet, i. 1 each word made true and good i. 2 my honoured lord, 'tis true i. 2 to thine ownself be true; and it must i. 3 you have 'ten these tenders for true pay i. 3
 I define true madness, what's it? ii. 2
 'tis true: 'tis true, 'tis true, 'tis true ii. 2 out of ten thousand. That's very true ii. 2 most true, she is a strumpet ii. 2 but your news is not true ii. 2 for some confession of his true state ii. 1
 'tis most true; an eye beset me ii. 1 O 'tis too true! how smart a lash ii. 1 there the action lies in his true nature ii. 3 what I have to do will want true colour ii. 4 as his true nature is, each toy iv. 5 how should I yet be true? iv. 5 (song) unsmirched brow of my true mother iv. 5 like a good child, and a true gentleman iv. 5 to make true dictation of him, his semblable v. 2 my soul true as I speak true v. 2
 'tis true most worthily, my lord v. 2 it is most true; true, I have married her i. 3
 I know not, if it be true; but I, for mere i. 3 how, is this true? The ship is here put in ii. 1 then, 'tis true, and clear, and true ii. 1 you say true; 'tis so, indeed ii. 1 here's a goodly tumult

 what tumult's in the heavens?
 what tumult's this? An uproar for what hath bronched this tumult? Henry VI., ii. 2 TUMULTUOUS wars shall kin w.th. Richard III., iv. 1

TUMULTUOUS strife
 why with tumultuous clamour of the tune of funeral TUN—with so many tunes of oil a tun of man is thy companion your spirit, this tun of treasure (dry) tun of blood
 TUNDISH—with undundish TUNE—to what tune pleased his ear a very scurry tune to sing (rep.) sing it, madam, to a time to the tune of Light o' Love too heavy for so light a tune I doo tune these still tune a deploring dump let's tune, and to it lustily out of tune on the strings?
 tune my distress, and record tune of Green Sleeves (rep. v. 5) [Col.] out o' tune?
 and play the tune the while how dost thou like this tune?
 I like the tune, but not the words what say'st thou to this tune speak in the sick tune? (rep.) serve for the writing, nor the tune to jig off a tune at the tongue's end I can't see, not too long, one tune and profound Solomon to tune a jig tune [Col. Kn.] turn) his merry A. you Like, ii. 5 (song) thou bring'st me out of tune for water how be in tune and both in a tune, like two gipsies in tune? that will be never (rep.) he sings several tunes, faster and all men's ears gave to his tunes to the self same tune, and to record here's one, to a very dolcful tune and goes to the tune of, two maids we had the tune on't a month ago still he had both tune and words
 for water how be in tune
 this tune [Kn.] time) goes manly [Kn.] fit it with some better tune knows no touch to tune the harmony. Richard III., iii. 3 and sung to flutes mine
 I like the tune, but not the words whose dismal tune bereth as loud, and to as many tunes in this tune, is he? (rep.)
 and 'tis the tune of your voices this is a slurry tune to the
 to the tune of flutes kept ballad us out o' tune come on, tune; if you can penetrate to the self same tune, out of tune the tune of Imogen
 do tune the harmony of this peace doth tune us otherwise sometime, in his better tune, remembers like sweet bells jangled, out of tune chanted snatches of old tunes [Col.] only got the tune of the time my advocacy is not now in tune TUNEABLE than lark to shepherd's. Mid. N., Dr. i. 1 a cry more tuneable was never heard TUNED his bounty to singing will be done, ere you have tuned tuned to the same key tuned too sharp in sweetness as all the tuned spheres you are well tuned now! but I'll set TUNED new tuners of assents. Romeo & Juliet, ii. 4 TUNIC—Claribel to the king Tunis was never graded before she was of Carthage, not of Tunis (rep.) as when we were at Tunis she that is queen of Tunis (rep.) keep in Tunis, and let Sebastian her husband find at Tunis TUP—Cassio did tup her
 TUPP'd—gape on? behold her tupp'd?

 TURLYGOOD—poor Turlygood!
 TURMOIL—after much turmoil. Two Gen. of Verona, ii. 7 TURMOILED in the court TURNS—do not turn me out I'll turn my mercy out of doors a turn or two I'll walk or I'll turn you out of my kingdom and turn her out to who as thine will scarce serve the turn? (rep.) going will scarce serve the turn a sonnet that will serve the turn I would not to share the turn I would turn away some
 I shall turn your head out
 I would turn her loose to him but I would be loth to turn them from another turn to another for he swears, he'll turn me away no more turn me to him and turn him to no pain and turn him about
 as fasten the one to the other?
 till his brains turn out of the toe. Ter. Night, i. 3 the poet's pen turns them to shapes a mote will turn the balance not serve your turn, sir (rep.) and second cause will not serve my turn for an assurance, that I turn some other the other turns to a mirth-moving jest I day would turn to night her favour turns the fashion each turn away her face I would turn it to a jest, but I we will turn it finely off, sir purifies itself, and turns to grace this Hebrew will turn Christian. Mer. of Venice, ii. 4 the earl of Warwick (rep. v. 1) Warwick is chancelor, and the lord whet on Warwick to this enterprize noble Warwick, Cobham, and the rest lord of Warwick, if we should recount O Warwick, what art worthy (rep.) gentle Warwick? (rep. iii. 3) . . . ii. 1 when valiant Warwick fled . . . ii. 1

 I know it well, lord Warwick (rep.)
 I hear great Warwick speak . . . ii. 1 retire, if Warwick bid him stop (rep.)
 why, how now, long-tongued Warwick?
 which Warwick says is right . . . ii. 2 Warwick, why hast thou withdrawn
 Warwick, revenge thy wrongs, estrange O Warwick, I do bend my knee nay, Warwick, single out some . . . ii. 5 being the earl of Warwick's man . . . ii. 5 Warwick rages like a chafed bull . . . ii. 5 and Richard, Warwick bid him stop (rep.) past the wit of man to say it iv. 1 he hath simply the best wit of any iv. 2 but bank'rouit quite the wits Love's L. Lost, i. 1 for her wit. It was so, sir (rep.) i. 2 my father's wit, and my mother's i. 2 and he had a very good wit i. 2 devils, wit, write pen i. 2 in spending your wit in the praise ii. 1 is a sharp wit matched with too ii. 1 such short-lived wits do wither ii. 1 he hath wit to make an ill ii. 1 to win grace though he had no wit ii. 1 his eye begets occasion for his wit ii. 1 your wit's too hot, it speeds too fast ii. 1 good wits will be jangling ii. 1 wits of wits were much better used ii. 1 were as slender as my wit, one of ii. 1 most incony vulgar wit iv. 1 o' foother sile, that handful of wit? iv. 1 can you tell by your wit, what iv. 2 of poetry, wit, nor invention iv. 2 well proved wit! by the lord iv. 3 I'll mark how low can vary wit iv. 3 how will he spend his wit? iv. 3 quick renew of wit v. 1 o' joiceth my intellect true v. 1 thou halfpenny purse of wit v. 2 a set of wit well played v. 2 spend his prodigal wit in bootless v. 2 want they are answer as wit times v. 2 and wit's own grace to grace v. 2 when wit doth dote v. 2 to prove by wit, worth in v. 2 minister your wits; stand in v. 2 wit wenchos; wit wench v. 2 these the breed of wits so wondered at? v. 2 well-liking wits they have v. 2 O poverty in wit, kingly-poor flout! v. 2 wit, better wits have worn v. 2 his fellow peevish wit v. 2 is he wit's pedlar, and retails his v. 2 your wit makes wise things foolish v. 2 thrust thy sharp wit quite through v. 2 my wit is at an end v. 2 welcome, pure wit, thou art v. 2 within the mercy of your wit v. 2 all the fierce endeavour of your wit v. 2 hedged me by his wit, to yell Merch. of Venice, iii. 1 the wisdom by wit to lose iii. 1 to wit, besides commends iii. 1 thou spend'st at such high-day wit in iii. 1 the best grace of wit will shortly iii. 5 the whole wealth of thy wit in iii. 5 none that thou canst wit enough iv. 1 repair thy wit, good youth iv. 1 hath given us wit to flout at As you Like it, i. 2 the cutter off of nature's wit i. 2 perceiving our natural wits too dull i. 2 wickstone of the wits, how now, wit? i. 2 for since the little wit that fools i. 2 as wit and fortune will i. 2 be 'ware of mine own wit, till I ii. 4 learned no wit by nature or art iii. 2 have too good wit to know now, wit? iii. 2 you have a nimble wit; I think iii. 2 nor a man's good wit seconded with iii. 3 think my honesty ranker than my wit iv. 1 could not have the wit to do this iv. 1 good wit, I think, is a good wit iv. 1 if by thy run the wild-goose iv. 1 in one of thy wits, than, I am sure iv. 1 here's a wit of cheveril iv. 4 thy shape, thy love, thy wit (rep.) iv. 5 they will, they will, they will iv. 5 shows still some want of wit iv. 5 past the compass of my wits iv. 5 your dagger, and put out your wit iv. 5 my wits: I will dry 'em out (rep.) iv. 5 since brevity is the soul of wit Hamlet, i. 2 a plentiful lack of wit, together ii. 2 my wits' diseased, but, sir, such answer iii. 2 and that Dian's wit will be as iv. 5 hadst thou thy wits, and didst persuade iv. 5 I like thy wit well, in good faith v. 1 he shall recover his wits there v. 1 'faith, 'e'en with losing his wits v. 1 what, have you lost your wits? Honour & Justice, i. 1 her duty, beauty, wit, and fortunes i. 3 be not too hard for my wits, and all i. 3 fairness and wit, the one's for use ii. 1 how his words are suited iii. 5 an army of good words iii. 5 for a trial, and to get the word iii. 5 those are the very words iii. 5 the words expressly are, a pound iv. 1 for teaching me that word iv. 1 and I bring word, my mistress, will iv. 1 we hope, the better for our words v. 1 appear in other ways than words v. 1 would not have spoke such a word, As you Like It. i. 3 not a word? Not one to throw i. 3 so, thy words are too good to throw i. 3 we consist in words, they are as i. 3 in the greatness of my word, you die answer me in one word iii. 2

 'tis a word too great for any mouth iii. 2
 'tis honest in word, and word? iii. 4 no stronger than the word of iii. 4

 I'll sauce her with bitter words iii. 5 what care I for words? yet words do I cannot say a word iv. 1 such Ethiop words, blacker in iv. 3

WORD—hence, and not a word. As you Like It. iv. 3 keep your word, O duke (rep.) v. 4 he sent me word, if I said his beard v. 4 word again, it was not well cut (rep.) v. 4 I will not cut my word v. 4 have audience, for a word v. 4 his plausive words he scattered not All's Well. i. 2 her own words, to her own ears i. 3 and lustings, a word, good metals ii. 1 if thou proceed as his as a word ii. 1 the mere word's a slave, debauched on a word with you. Your pleasure, sir?
 you are not worth another word ii. 3 strings are in her midst heavy of her let every word weigh heavy of her iii. 4 I loved not many words iii. 6 spoken, is so, from word to word iii. 7 are words, and poor conditions iv. 2 but with the word, the first words v. 2 to hear me one single word v. 2 save your word. My name v. 2 you beg more than one word then v. 2 whose words all ears took captive v. 3 not one word more of the chattered v. 3 but very idle words Taming of Shrew. 2 (induc.) but a word, I pray: though i. 1 spake you not these words plain i. 2 o' my word, and I will be as good i. 2 with more successful words than i. 2 sir, a word ere you go i. 2 more words, you will get you i. 2 to what end are all these words? i. 2 did he cross thee with a word or word?
 armed for some unhappy words ii. 1 with that word, she struck me ii. 1 and will not speak a word ii. 1 will not speak a word ii. 1 fortune was his from his word iv. 2 I am come to keep my word ii. 2 therefore have done with words ii. 2 what, not a word? nay then, thou iv. 3 I please, in words. Why, thou say'st take no mindings of his last words but your words show you a madman
 I would that word were true v. 2 sends you word that she is busy v. 2 to handly you for a word, as if you do come with words as medicinal Winter's Tale.
 within this hour bring me word 'tis ii. 3 whose every word deserves to taste ii. 2 if word, nor oath, prevail, go and see not a word, but a word iv. 3 no scurrilous words in his tune iv. 3 your tongues; and not a word more mark thou my words; follow us iv. 3 know you shall not want— one word

 I have no words, my voice is in v. 7 that keep the word of promise v. 7 they also; but calm words, folded King-John. ii. 1 not a word of his, but buffets better ii. 2
 I was never so bethumped with words but the word maid, cheats the poor ii. 2 this broke it, it is a having word iii. 1 for thy word is but the vain breath iii. 1 signs confirmers of thy words? iii. 1 but this one word, whether thy iii. 1 envenom him with words iii. 5 should'st speak these words to me iii. 5 that gave the sound of words iii. 1 hark, a word. Come hither, Hubert ears, and harmful sound of words iii. 3 repeats his words, remembers me iv. 1 [Co.] spoiled the sweet words' taste iv. 4 his words do take possession iv. 1 ne'er have spoke a loving word to you nor speak a word, nor look upon iv. 1 me in my tale in express words what'er you think, good words, I think our souls religiously conform in thy words now keep your holy word. Go meet v. 1 and send him word by me, which way not my cold words here excuse Richard II. i. 1 yet one word more; grief boundeth i. 2 the hopeless word of, never to i. 3 lies in one little word i. 3 thy word is as current with him i. 3 that thou heard thy words i. 3 should so profane the word i. 4

WORD—that words seemed buried. Richard II. i. 4 which words a sense, they are ii. 1 that breathe their words to tormentors ii. 1 these words hereafter thy tormentors ii. 1 impute his words to wayward ii. 1 words, life and all, old Lancaster ii. 1 that speaks thy words to me ii. 1 thy words are but as thoughts ii. 1 sake, speak comfortable words ii. 2 my company, than your good words ii. 3 transport my words by you ii. 3 and that word—grace, in an ii. 3 my liege, one word. He does me ii. 3 let's fight with gentle words ii. 3 off again with words of sooth ii. 3 set't the word itself against the word iv. 1 his words come from his mouth v. 3 first word of thy speech (rep.) v. 3 the word is short, but not so v. 3 but neither my word, I shall have v. 3 the king, what words he speaks? v. 4 those were his very words v. 3 word [knit-faith] itself against (rep.) v. 5 but neither my good word v. 6
 I shall have me word, I shall have Henry IV. i. 1 sir John stands to his word i. 1 for keeping thy word with the devil i. 2 how much better than my word I am i. 2 hear you, cousin, a word i. 3
 I should have fewer words than a parrot and, with a word, out-faced you ii. 4 I have partly thy mother's word ii. 4 not in words only, but in acts also ii. 4 both in word and matter ii. 4
 I will engage my word to thee ii. 4 but marked him not a word ii. 1 Mortimer of Scotland hath sent word ii. 2 arest thou be as good as thy word iii. 3 rare words! brave words! honest nay, thank me to my word; approve me there is not such a word spoke of in v. 1 and bring me word what he will do v. 1 in a word! What is his word, honour?
 should keep his word in a word i. 1 this word, rebellion, it had froze Henry IV. i. 1 sir John Falstaff, a word with you i. 2 nor the throng of words that come ii. 1 no more words to me ii. 2 eat twenty of his words ii. 2 no word to your master ii. 2 that you broke your word ii. 3 Bardolph hath brought word ii. 4 the word Captain, a word to a parrot these are very bitter words ii. 4 did speak these words, now proved iii. 1 and that same word even now cries iii. 1 I have heard the word, please, call iii. 2 the word with me, even now (rep.) iii. 2 sir, a word with you; I have three iii. 2
 I will not use many words with you iii. 2
 I have spoke, at a word; fare you well every third word I have paid iii. 2 turning the word to word iv. 2
 I take your princely word for iv. 2

 for every word I speak, ye see . . . 1. 3 I'll not trouble thee with words . . . 1. 3 propose the self-same words to th e . . . 1. 3 I'll plague you for that word . . . 1. 3 to fill the world with words! . . . 1. 3 with thy weapon, not with words! . . . 1. 3 and this word, love, which greybeards . . . 1. 3 never learn sweet soothing word . . . Richard III. 1. 2 and even with the word thou . . . 1. 3 his grace with quick and merry words . . . 1. 3 the urging of that word, judgment . . . 1. 3 attended to their sugared words . . . 1. 3 I moralize two meanings in one word . . . 1. 3 sends you word, God, King, certify, your! . . . 1. 3 cousin of Buckingham, a word with you . . . 1. 3 thy breath in middle of a word . . . 1. 3 your grace's word shall serve . . . 1. 3 the citizens say, I am say not a word . . . 1. 3 they spoke not a word . . . 1. 3 grew captive to his honey words . . . 1. 3 my words are dull, O quicken them . . . 1. 3 why should calamity be full of words? . . . 1. 3 in the breadth of that word . . . 1. 3 mild and gentle in my words . . . 1. 3 hear me a word (rep.) . . . 1. 3 is but a word that cowards use . . . 1. 3 our ancient word of courage, fair . . . 1. 3 word with you; let there be letters . . . Henry VIII. 1. 2 these very words I have heard him . . . 1. 2 every minute with words of sovereignty . . . 1. 2 the verity of certain words spoke . . . 1. 2 and your words, domestics to you . . . 1. 2 spake one the least word, might . . . 1. 2 and yet words are no deeds . . . 1. 2 did crown his word upon you . . . 1. 2 words cannot carry authority . . . 1. 2 till I find more than will, or words . . . 1. 2 ever double, both in words and meaning . . . 1. 2 understand you, words and weakness . . . 1. 2 and the words will let me think . . . 1. 2 here's yet in the word . . . Troilus & Cressida. 1. 1 words, vows, gifts, tears, and love's . . . 1. 2 Nestor shall apply thy latest words . . . 1. 3 Achilles shall not word of this intent . . . 1. 3 good words, Therites! (rep.) . . . 1. 3 a word, my lord: What moves Ajax . . . 1. 3 friend! you! pray you, a word . . . 1. 3 dead lion, you are full of fair words . . . 1. 3 will you vouchsafe to let me die? . . . 1. 3 nay, I care not for such words . . . 1. 3 benefit me of all words, lady: Words . . . 1. 3 few words to fair faith . . . 1. 3 your uncle's word, and my firm (rep.) . . . 1. 3 withal, bring me words . . . 1. 3 given so many good words breath . . . 1. 3 lady, a word; I'll bring you to . . . 1. 3 yet matchless in of word . . . 1. 3 deeds to match these words . . . 1. 3 when Diomed keeps his word . . . 1. 3 hark! a word with you (rep.) . . . 1. 3 your mind be coupled with your words . . . 1. 3 torments, I will not . . . 1. 3 by Jove, I will not speak a word . . . 1. 3

WORD—will not keep my word . . . Troilus & Cress. v. 2 one word speak a word that . . . v. 2 words, words, mere words; no matter . . . v. 3 my love with words and errors till she . . . v. 3 there is a word will Priam turn . . . v. 11 and, in a word, scare Troy out . . . v. 11 more present than words . . . Troilus of Athens. 1. 1 I have one word to say to you . . . 1. 2 vouchsafe me a word; it does concern . . . 1. 2 he owes for every word . . . 1. 2 you gave good words to Cleopatra . . . 1. 2 you may take my word, my lord . . . 1. 2 and turned to me in word, but find . . . 1. 2 the world is but a word . . . 1. 2 as to use mine own words to him? . . . 1. 2 these words become your lips . . . 1. 2 your words have took such pains . . . 1. 4 not one word more; thus part we . . . 1. 2 ingratitude with any size of words . . . v. 1 for each true word, blister! . . . v. 2 these words become your lips . . . v. 2 lips, let our words go by . . . v. 2 descend, and keep your words . . . v. 5 one word, good citizens . . . Coriolanus. 1. 1 we have your good word (rep.) . . . 1. 2 these are the words, I think, I have . . . 1. 2 of my word, the father's son . . . 1. 3 no; at a word, madam; indeed . . . 1. 3 it was his story; O, he would miss . . . 1. 1 I hope, if words die beneath you not . . . 1. 2 made me stay, I fled from words . . . 1. 2 no more words, we beseech you . . . 1. 1 so shall my lungs coin words till . . . 1. 1 what I like to say in words . . . 1. 1 hear me one word; beseech you (rep.) . . . 1. 1 I'd crave a word or two . . . 1. 1 one word more, one word . . . 1. 1 with such words that are but roted in . . . 1. 2 to say in you by words . . . 1. 2 as free as words to little purpose . . . 1. 2 the word is mildly; pray you, let . . . 1. 2 at the price of one fair word . . . 1. 3 for Rome, than thou hast spoken words? . . . 1. 2 to say in you by words . . . 1. 2
 in a word, I also am longer to live . . . 1. 5 Marcia, Marcus, each word thou . . . v. 2 as you have uttered words in your own . . . v. 3 another word, Menenius, I will not hear . . . v. 2 a better witness luck than words . . . v. 2 hoping to purge himself with words . . . v. 5 upon the word, accoutred as I was, Julius Caesar. 1. 2 that my weak words have struck . . . 1. 2 I would not have said a word . . . 1. 2 to digest his words with better . . . 1. 2 bid Antonius send word to you . . . 1. 3 look in the calendar, and bring me word . . . 1. 1 shall I entreat a word? . . . 1. 1 that I have spoken words . . . 1. 1 if you shall send them word . . . 1. 1 yes, bring me word, boy (rep.) . . . 1. 1 sweet words, low-crooked courtiers . . . 1. 4 Brutus, a word with you; you know not . . . 1. 2
 that I have spoken words . . . 1. 2 marked ye his words? he would not . . . 1. 2 but yesterday the word of Cæsar . . . 1. 2 neither wit, nor words, nor worth . . . 1. 2 give the word, 'hol' and stand . . . 1. 2 I word, incline (rep.) . . . 1. 2 stand, hol give the word along . . . 1. 2 the generals would have some words . . . v. 1 words before blows, is it so . . . v. 1 words here, and do words . . . v. 1 you give good words; witness . . . v. 1 but for your words, they rob . . . v. 1 Brutus gave the word too early . . . v. 3 and bring us word unto Octavius' tent . . . v. 3 slaying the words, and . . . v. 3 peace then, no words, I'll rather kill . . . v. 5 list a word. What says my lord? . . . v. 5 our departure, death's the word . . . Antony & Cleo. 1. 3 then was the time for words . . . 1. 3 courteous lord, one word; sir, you and I . . . 1. 3 Cæsar I bring thee word, Menecrates . . . 1. 4 you were the word of war . . . 1. 2 you hear no more words of Pompey . . . 1. 2 ne'er the word of no woman heard . . . 1. 2 bring me word quickly (rep.) . . . 1. 5 that first we come to words . . . 1. 6 and fair words to them. Then so much . . . 1. 6 Pompey, a word. Say in mine ear . . . 1. 7 and hear me speak a word . . . 1. 7 what needs more words? good-night . . . 1. 7 that magical word of war . . . 1. 10 I'll bring thee word straight . . . 1. 10 and send him word you are dead . . . 1. 11 I'll bring thee word, I'll do it . . . 1. 11 she sent you word she was dead . . . 1. 12 one word, sweet queen . . . 1. 13 he weds me, girls, he weds me, that I . . . v. 2 I'll drink the words you send . . . Cymbeline. 1. 2 believe two charming words . . . 1. 2 words him, I doubt not, a great . . . 1. 2 hark thee, a word. I do not like her . . . 1. 6 when thou shalt bring me word . . . 1. 6 my moment; think my words (rep.) . . . 1. 6 as I have word to bid you . . . 1. 7 or I shall short my word . . . 1. 7 with admirable rich words to it . . . 1. 3 in posture that acts my words . . . 1. 3 that words are strokes, and strokes . . . 1. 4 in a word; or else thou art straightway . . . 1. 5 at once, at the next word, no more of . . . 1. 5 the words of your commission will . . . 1. 7 saving reverence of the word . . . 1. 7 thy words, I gra, at a bigger . . . 1. 4 play in wench-like words with that . . . 1. 2 use like note, and words, save that . . . 1. 2 I'll weep, and word it with thee . . . v. 2 and bring me word, how I will with her . . . v. 2 with this word, stand, stand . . . v. 3

WORD—soft best, sweet words . . . Cymbeline. v. 3 hanging it the way attend my words . . . v. 5 pardon's the word to all . . . v. 5 rest on my word, and let not . . . Titus Andronic. 1. 2 warrants these words in princely . . . 1. 2 what reproachful words are these . . . 1. 2 these words are arrows, O my wounded . . . 1. 2 what villain was it spoke that word? . . . 1. 2 these words, these looks, infuse new . . . 1. 2 my word and promise to the emperor . . . 1. 3 by force, if not by words . . . 1. 1 entreat her hear me but a word . . . 1. 3 let them not speak a word . . . 1. 4 cousin, a word; where is your husband? . . . 1. 5 send these this word, then . . . 1. 4 did not name the word of hands? . . . 1. 2 will write these words, and lay . . . 1. 1 but Pluto sends you word . . . 1. 3 of my word, I have written . . . 1. 3 with words more sweet, and yet . . . 1. 4 no; not a word? (rep.) . . . v. 1 let them not speak a word . . . v. 2 let them hear what fearful words . . . v. 2 will induce you to attend my words . . . v. 3 I'll take thy word for faith . . . Pericles. 1. 2 prove awful both in deed and word . . . ii. (Gower) sends word of all that happens in Tyre . . . ii. (Gower) the word, lux tua vita nihil (rep.) . . . 1. 2 lord Heliconus, I have written . . . 1. 4 I never spake bad word, nor . . . 1. 1 a word, and I'll have done presently . . . 1. 6 spoken holy words to the lord Lycimachus . . . 1. 6 if I will suggest to you that I . . . v. 1 more than words can wield the matter . . . Learn. 1. 1 may spring from words of love . . . 1. 1 fine word, legitimately well, my legitimate . . . 1. 2 by word, or countenance? . . . 1. 2 not a word (rep.) . . . v. 1 brother, a word; descend; brother, I say . . . 1. 1 make thy words faithed? . . . 1. 1 to bawdy hasty words, to scant . . . 1. 4 few words, but to effect, more than . . . 1. 1 priests are more in word than matter . . . 1. 4 keep thy word justly [Knt.-word's justice] . . . 1. 4 swore as many oaths as I spake words . . . 1. 4 I'll talk a word with this same . . . 1. 4 let me ask you a word . . . 1. 4 come, good Athenian! No words (rep.) . . . 1. 4 word was still, fie, foh, and fun . . . 1. 4 (song) not you transport her purposes by word? . . . 1. 5 give the word. Sweet marjoram . . . 1. 6 if words are not in word than matter . . . 1. 6 hear me one word. I'll overtake you . . . 1. 1 Gregory, o my word, we'll not . . . Romeo & Juliet. 1. 1

 I hate the word, as I hate hell . . . 1. 1 civil brawl bred of an airy word . . . 1. 1
 I word I'll suggest to you that I . . . 1. 4 the constable's own word . . . 1. 4 your mother craves a word with you . . . 1. 5 to my gossip Venus one fair word . . . 1. 1 I take thee at thy word . . . 1. 2 tear the word from my ear (rep.) . . . 1. 2 and I will take thy word . . . 1. 2 three words, dear Romeo . . . 1. 2 send me word to-morrow, by one . . . 1. 2 I stretch it out for thee, O my word . . . 1. 4 pray you, sir, a word; and as I told you . . . 1. 5 my words would bawdy her to my . . . 1. 5 but close our hands with holy words . . . 1. 6 more rich in matter than in words . . . 1. 6
 I word I'll suggest to you that I . . . 1. 6 make it a word and a blow . . . 1. 2 some word there was, worse than . . . 1. 2 that one word—banished, hath slain . . . 1. 2 to speak that word, is father, mother . . . 1. 3 that word! a dear word, can that . . . 1. 3 turned that black word death . . . 1. 3 the damned use that word in hell . . . 1. 3 me with that word—banishment? . . . 1. 3 but speak a word [Knt.-a little speak] . . . 1. 3 armour to keep off that word . . . 1. 3 with patience but to speak a word . . . 1. 5 talk not to me, for I'll not speak a word . . . 1. 5 as to give words or talk with . . . 1. 3 whose lightest word would harrow up . . . 1. 5 now to my word; it is adieu, adieu! . . . 1. 5 these are but wild and whirling words . . . 1. 5 I give him any hard words of late? . . . 1. 5 read, my lord? Words, words, words! . . . 1. 2 unpack my heart with words, and fall . . . 1. 2 than is my deed to my most painted word . . . 1. 1 with them, words of most breath . . . 1. 2 suit the action to the word, the word to . . . 1. 2 these words are not mine. No, nor mine . . . 1. 2 O but she'll keep her word . . . 1. 2

 I take the ghost's word for a thousand . . . 1. 2 vouchsafe me a word with you . . . 1. 2 how in my words soever she be silent . . . 1. 2 my words fly up, my thoughts (rep.) . . . 1. 3 ay, lady, 'twas my word; thou wretched . . . 1. 4 sweet religion, words of rashness of words . . . 1. 4 these words like daggers enter in . . . 1. 4 but one word more, good lady . . . 1. 4 if words be made of breath, and breath . . . 1. 4 the words up fit to their own thoughts . . . 1. 5 I give us leave no words you . . . 1. 5 ratifiers and props of every word . . . 1. 5 I have words to speak in thine ear . . . 1. 6 (let.) your father's son more than in words . . . 1. 7 all his golden words are spent . . . v. 2 but speak a word . . . Albano. 1. 2 but words are words; I never yet did hear . . . 1. 3 weigh'th thy words before thou givest them . . . 1. 3 thy word of thoughts the worst of words . . . 1. 3

THE END.

MRS. COWDEN-CLARKE'S

"Concordance to Shakespeare."

THE mode of spelling "Shaksper" was used, when printing my Concordance to the great Poet's plays, in deference to the wish of Mr. Charles Knight, its original publisher; otherwise I should have used the form [Shakespeare] which I have always adopted, because it was the one given in the First Folio Edition of his dramatic works by its superintenders and his brother-actors Heminge and Condell. The name is also given thus in the First Edition of his Sonnets; and it seems to have been the orthography used in print where his name was given during his lifetime. That as many as sixteen different modes of spelling the name have been found to have been used at the epoch when he wrote, and that he himself did not adhere to any particular one when signing his name, appears to be merely in accordance with a fashion of the time, which allowed of the utmost irregularity in the orthography of men's names.

The above affords an explanation of the reason why my "Concordance to Shakespeare" bears on its title-page * a form of orthography varying from the one which is given in our "Shakespeare Key" (which forms the companion volume to the Concordance) and all the other works upon this subject written by my beloved husband and myself.
